New York City's Snow Removal Bill

Almost $1 Million Owed Ulster

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

KINGSTON — Ulster County may be the beneficiary of nearly $1 million from New York City for snow removal from roads the city is obligated to maintain, according to a Manhattan Supreme Court decision.

A 1960 state statute which mandated New York City's obligation was ruled constitutional by Justice George M. Carney and under the law New York City is obligated to maintain, remove snow and sand from icy, upstate roads adjacent to reservoir properties in Ulster, Delaware and Sullivan counties.

A short time after enactment of the state law on Nov. 30, 1960, the City of New York instituted action in Supreme Court to have the statute declared unconstitutional. The ruling process involved only legislation restricted to the City of New York. He said in this case the statute involved concerns the welfare of the city and the surrounding towns.

Justice Carney denied the city's argument that the State Legislature in failing to get prior approval of the city for enactment of the law, violated the home rule process. The ruling justice held that the home rule process involved only legislation restricted to the City of New York. He said in this case the statute involved concerns the welfare of the city and the surrounding towns.

George Fichtner, acting Ulster County superintendent of highways said the county has been snow plowing and sanding Route 28A, the highway involved, for the convenience of the motoring public and has been keeping records of the charges. He estimated that the charges to the city could reach as high as $1 million. Fichtner noted that the records will have to be audited to determine the exact amount and it should also have to be determined if the charge goes back as far as 1960, or further.

County Attorney Abram F. Molyneux said he was familiar with the case but had not received official notification of the decision from Manhattan Supreme Court.

Due to the reported financial condition of New York City, the charges due will most likely have to be negotiated with the three counties involved.

Since the 1960 amendment to the law requiring the City of New York to "maintain and keep in repair" these substitute highways around reservoir property, the county has taken over the job rather than have the adjacent townships become involved. At that time it was believed that Ulster County and New York City would negotiate for a contract price to cover the cost of maintenance and snow removal. However, an agreement was never reported.

In 1961, the Delaware County Town of Colchester which is adjacent to the Downsville watershed was involved in the legal action of the case and unsuccessfully moved for a change of venue. The city took no action for a decision in the succeeding eight years.

Last year, the Delaware township asked for a dismissal of the city's suit on grounds of general delay and failing to prosecute the action, and for a declaration of the rights of the parties concerned.

Based on the Colchester case, Justice Carney said New York City had the right to contest the constitutionality of the 1960 statute. At this time the upstate community offered the contention that as a municipality, New York City could not challenge state law which regulated its duties.

The ruling this week by Justice Carney created quite a stir in county officialdom and there were visions by some that the county was in line for a lump sum settlement. However, there are two factors entering into the situation. The reports that New York City is in financial stress and there is some doubt as to how the metropolis will be able to pay the charges of all three counties which could be in the $3 to $4 million range. There is also the matter of how far retroactive the ruling will go and how much of the billing accrued can be charged back to the city.

In 1960 State Sen. E. Ogden Bush, R-Delaware County urged the highway departments of the various units involved consolidate their case and "fight it down to the wire." The roads involved are in the area of the Ashokan Reservoir, Pepacton and Neversink reservoirs, which are part of New York City's water supply system.

Bush, who was state senator at that time estimated that about 160 miles of highway were involved in the maintenance.

Robert R. Haines concocted this unlikely scene to mark the day. And besides the "ship of April Fools" is following the signs to the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge. It will be at the river in no time.

The GOP Rebellion Stymies State Budget

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — New York State entered its new fiscal year without a budget today because upstate Republicans balked at passing a $488 million tax package for the $7.7 billion spending plan.

Governor Rockefeller, Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, and Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea voiced cautious optimism that they could bring reluctant members into line and pass the proposal late today.

When Duryea emerged from a two-hour, closed door GOP conference early today, he was asked if he lacked the votes at that point.

"That's safe to say," he replied. Despite the prospect of as many as 25 Republican holdouts between the houses, GOP leaders and Rockefeller were committed to passing the budget without concessions for higher spending to get Democratic votes.

"We'll pass it today," Rockefeller said. "If we don't, we're in trouble."

There was no immediate fiscal problem. The state does not have to meet its next payroll until April 7.

The GOP leaders hoped to get their rank and file behind a $488 million tax package that included a penny-on-the-dollar sales tax hike, $50 million in increased beer and liquor taxes, and $100 million in higher corporate taxes.

The spending total was slashed $713 million from Rockefeller's original $8.45 billion request, with the heaviest cuts in local assistance, state agencies and welfare.

Brydges and Duryea went down to the wire Wednesday night, but then called off late night sessions when the diehards insisted that new taxes be cut to $400 million.

Sen. John H. Hughes, R-Syracuse, a 25-year legislative veteran and leader of the holdouts, met with Duryea but apparently failed to win the additional $50 million in cuts he sought.

The other Assembly holdouts were said to be four from the Syracuse area and six from western New York.

In the Senate, the reluctant members were reported to be Hughes, and Tarky Lombardi of Syracuse, Walter Langley of Albany, Thomas McGowan of Buffalo and James Donovan of Utica.

All lawmakers reported being flooded with mail against the tax package since Rockefeller proposed a $1.1 billion tax hike on Feb. 1.

Despite the apparent impasse, both GOP leaders hoped to get the 76 necessary votes in the Assembly and 29 in the Senate without being forced into higher spending for welfare and cities being demanded by Democrats.

"Sooner or later, we shall have 29 Republican votes for a budget," Brydges said.

Asked if he would seek Democratic votes, Duryea said, "We don't anticipate any."

The growing disenchantment of rank and file Republicans with the 12 years of liberal spending by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was never more apparent than it was today when New York State began a fiscal year without a budget.

The rebellion in the GOP ranks is not new. It has been fermenting since 1964. The hand writing for the current budget crisis was put on the wall in the 1970 election when James L. Buckley was elected to the U.S. Senate.

When Rockefeller introduced an $8.45 billion state budget with $1.1 billion in new taxes in February, the years of silent frustration turned into a public uproar.

Republicans vowed not only to "cut the hell" out of the budget proposal—but make up for a decade of what they included was overspending by reducing nearly every major state program.

For Rockefeller, it was something new. At first, he vowed projections and Medicaid in March is up 11 per cent. We don't need any additional expense," he concluded.

County Legislators Move to Block Welfare Increases

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — Calling the state's proposed new welfare system, due to go in effect in Ulster County in July "idealistic but unrealistic," Majority Leader Douglas V. Dye (R-Dist. 2) and six other County Legislators are making a move to block any changes.

In a resolution filed with the County Legislature, the seven existing or future programs, including separation of services within the welfare department, without the permission of the full board of the 33-member County Legislature.

Co-sponsoring the measure with Dye are S. Robert Kelder (R-Dist. 2), Ernest John Gardner (R-Dist. 11), Richard Nace (R-Dist. 2) Dr. Gerald P. Gorman (D-City), Orrie R. Riehl (D-City) and Melvin Mones (R-City).

Just last week, two other legislators, Glenn DeBrosky (R-Dist. 7) and Lester C. Elmen-dorf (R-Dist. 2) took strong issue with new welfare system calling it "a waste of taxpayer money."

Dye and his co-sponsors, speaking of the new system which calls for the hiring of additional personnel and the separation of various services within the department, stated that the cost of administration of welfare has risen 300 per cent in the last seven years as a result of state-mandated programs.

"It has caused administrative confusion and additional expense without appreciable results," he explained, has the advantage of relieving case workers from clerical work but the legislators feel that the certification of applications is much too liberal and the system has a high exposure to fraud.

Dye said he and others have also been concerned with whether the new system is actually mandated by the state or merely strongly suggested. He said that after investigation it is his understanding that the only phase of the new system that is mandated is the certificate of application (a federal mandate). But, he added, that could be accomplished without complete reorganization as the state suggests.

Dye stated further that he doubts the credibility of the proposed program because State Deputy Commissioner Clifford P. Talcott, in outlining the new system to the legislators on Jan. 6 declared that Ulster would need 32 additional employees in its welfare department. Then, on March 18, he suggested that only 17 additional employees would be needed. Later that same evening, he dropped the number to six, Dye said and after the meeting, he said that the state would settle for one additional person as a "training director."

The majority leader, who is also chairman of the Social Services Committee, said he has been working on the problem since last September and feels that the new system will create "more expense without more service."

"Our administrative costs in Ulster County are very low and I would like to keep that posture," he said. "Separation of services will only add to administrative costs."

"Today we are in financial difficulty in the areas of aid to dependent children and Medicaid. ADC is running about 50 per cent over budget thing new. At first, he vowed projections and Medicaid in March is up 11 per cent. We don't need any additional expense," he concluded.

Central Hudson vs UR: A $90,000 Court Case

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, two strikes down in its $90,000 law suit with Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. involving underground power lines in the Broadway East Project, tries again before the State's highest court on April 5 in Albany.

The agency, sued by Central Hudson, lost a 3-2 decision in the State Appellate Court in December of 1968 and was ordered to pay the utility $84,872 plus court costs. An appeal was taken by the agency to the Court of Appeals but was dismissed in December of last year for failure to prosecute by the agency.

The story goes back to the mid-1960's during the planning stages of the Broadway East Urban Renewal Project, which was a four-day event. Federal Urban Renewal regulations stipulated that any new power lines in an urban renewal area had to be underground.

The controversy centered on the installation of power lines for the Rondout Gardens apartment complex. The cost of overhead lines, the utility said, was $9,000. The cost of underground lines was in excess of $90,000. The utility was willing to install the underground lines but insisted that the urban renewal agency pay the differential between overhead and underground lines. The agency refused.

But both parties agreed on the cost figures; agreed that the utility would install the underground lines; that the matter would be taken to court and that the courts would decide it.

Rondout Gardens was completed in the summer of 1968 and the disagreement was turned over to the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court.

Central Hudson won the case and an $84,872 settlement which has been building at the rate of three per cent (interest) for over two years and is reportedly now over $93,000.

The case was appealed to the state's highest court the following month but there was no brief filed by the urban renewal agency. Central Hudson's Attorney, Walter Bossert of the firm of Gould and Wilkie of New York City, made a motion for dismissal based on the fact that the urban renewal agency had not prosecuted its case. The motion was granted by the seven-judge court.

George A. Beck, attorney for the agency, told The Freeman today that the reason the agency did not act in that appeals case was that other cases similar to it were being litigated throughout the United States. Beck explained that the Department of Housing and Urban Development's policy on underground lines was a national one. "We were waiting for something definitive from another court," Beck said.

The agency has now hired John Davison an Albany attorney described as an expert on appeals cases, to argue the agency's case. Davison will ask that the case be reopened, next Monday. Beck will remain the attorney of record in the case although Davison will do all the arguing. Bossert, reached in his New York City offices, said that Central Hudson will oppose Davison's motion to reopen.

If the agency should ultimately lose the case, it would have to come up with the ninety-plus thousand dollars, reportedly from a "contingency fund." The

Limit Catches for Many Anglers

Good Start for Trout Fishing

By CHARLES J. TIANO

PHOENICIA — Early reports of opening day for trout appear as good as predicted by fishing buffs earlier this week with several anglers reporting limit catches despite the sub-freezing weather.

The Esopus, reputed to be one of the best trout streams in the state, was reported clear and moderately high this morning and the fishing good.

A report at Carroll's Bait Box, Route 28 noted that Sonny Barnes caught his limit of 10 with one rainbow 23 inches long. The Kingston angler was fishing the Esopus with salmon eggs. Willie Cragan of Kingston also creel his limit of rainbows from the Esopus near Boiceville. One was a 24-incher. It was reported that the portal is open bringing the level of the stream up, but not too high to harm good fishing conditions.

One young lad, who failed to give his name showed a 17-inch rainbow and another angler reported that two walleye pike were bagged at the dividing weir at Ashokan.

John Herring, a retired Lake Katrine sportsman creel a 16-inch brown in the Lake Katrine area below the waterfalls with a worm. The trout weighed in at 2½ pounds and was five inches in girth.

There were some reports of icing of line guides in the 22 to 26 degree temperatures but this did not deter opening day enthusiasts.

Dick Kahil at the Rainbow Lodge, Mt. Tremper said he was out a few hours early today and bagged four rainbows in the Chichester stream with salmon eggs. He said it was very cold and there'll be lots of coffee and other beverages consumed today.

Spada's Sport Shop in Kingston reported Mike Powers bagged an 18-inch rainbow but would not tell where he reeled it in. Most of the anglers are using salmon eggs, live bait and worms.

Folkert's at Phenicia reported Dick Ford of Shady came back with a full creel, seven browns and three rainbows. Dr. Gilbert Hoppenstedt of Kingston also came back with a full creel of brownies and rainbows. Tim Short of Phenicia creel 10 browns. Folkert's reported the feeder streams low and clear.

One report from Saugerties noted Bud Murphy bagged his limit of 10 browns from the Blue Mountain stream. He went out a little later this year due to the cold but got his limit in two hours.

BLOOD BANK THANKS — Wilfred G. Springer (R) executive director of the Ulster County Blood Bank, Inc., congratulates Vincent J. Cioni, president and Mrs. Barbara Kleckner, first vice-president of the Kingston Teachers Federation, Local 781, for the Federation's recent efforts to encourage all members as well as employees of the Kingston School System, to enroll in the Blood Bank program. "It is especially encouraging to us," commented Springer, "that such a group of important people in the community . . . have taken steps to support the Blood Bank." (Freeman photo by Haines).

Mrs. Acker, Four Arraigned

A 22-year-old New Jersey woman indicted on a murder charge stemming from the fatal shooting of a gas station attendant off the State Thruway near New Paltz, was arraigned Wednesday afternoon before County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Four other defendants indicted on other charges by a Supreme Court Grand jury, also appeared before Judge Mino, entered pleas of innocent and had counsel assigned. All cases were adjourned until April 14 for all purposes.

Charged with murder is Helen Acker of Mahwah, N.J. She and John Parker Jr., 30, also of Mahwah are accused of causing the death of Gordon Scharenberg, 20, of Park Ridge, N.J., last October. The youth's bullet-riddled body was discovered near a culvert on Oct. 27. Authorities said he had been forced to accompany Parker and the woman from a gas station where he was employed at Sloatsburg.

Parker was previously indicted for murder.

Mrs. Acker, an expectant mother, was remanded to the county jail after arraignment. Judge Mino assigned William D. Pretsch, counsel for the woman.

Also arraigned yesterday was Earl Francis Johnson, 48, who was arrested at the Kingston Stuyvesant Hotel in uptown Kingston during police narcotics raids last Oct. 29. Johnson, charged with criminal possession of dangerous drugs fourth and sixth degrees, had Elmore H. Nathan assigned as counsel. The defendant was accused of having several decks of heroin and a quantity of the same.

ment was Chris Beveridge, 20, formerly of Kingston, who was charged with criminal sale of dangerous drugs and criminal possession of dangerous drugs—marijuana. Attorney J. Philip Zand was assigned and bail was fixed at $500.

John Charles Cole, 30, of 69 West Union Street, charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, a felony, and leaving the scene of an accident stemming from a collision on Hasbrouck Avenue last Nov. 26, had Attorney Richard Anthony assigned as counsel. Cole was remanded to jail.

Mohawk Pilots Returning to Their Posts

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Mohawk Airlines' pilots were to return to work today, thus ending a 139-day walkout that paralyzed the regional carrier, put hundreds of other employees out of work and left thousands of passengers grounded.

Mohawk announced late Wednesday that an impartial arbitrator had decided on a back-to-work plan for the 396 pilots who had walked off their jobs last Nov. 12.

The recall of the pilots, coupled with a previous callback of some mechanics and the re-manning of the Mohawk reservations center, should enable the line to be back in the air by its announced April 14 target date.

"This ruling is certainly welcomed, for it marks the end of the long strike which has idled Mohawk and created hardships for employees and customers," said Mohawk President Russell V. Stephenson.

The airline serves 87 cities in the Northeast, Midwest and Canada. Mohawk has planned a three-phase resumption of service, beginning April 14 with flights to those cities serviced by jet aircraft.

Other cities would be phased into the revised system April 25 and May 9. During the strike, however, Stephenson indicated that Mohawk would have to cut back on its prestrike schedule by as much as 20 per cent. The specifics of any cutdown have not been announced.

The dispute has not been settled entirely, with 13 unresolved issues still outstanding.

Dale Carnegie -- Last Call

KINGSTON

"There are only a few spots left in the class and those interested in reserving a spot in the course should do so now," stated Stan Brown, Area Manager for the Dale Carnegie Courses in the Mid-Hudson region.

The Carnegie class, which has a maximum enrollment of 44 persons is slated to begin its first session on April 5 at 7 p.m. at the Holiday Inn.

"Because of our unique teaching techniques the class members are able to develop their latent abilities in 14 short weeks," said Brown, "and as a result are able to live a richer, fuller and more successful life. These benefits can be used in almost every conceivable situation the rest of their lives."

Brown went on to say that those who wait until next Monday night to enroll might be disappointed to find no space left in the class, therefore arrangements should be made as soon as possible. The Daily Freeman is sponsoring the Dale Carnegie Course here in Kingston. Brown may be reached by calling The Freeman at 331-5000.

$15,000 Verdict in Accident Case

KINGSTON

A Supreme Court jury late Wednesday returned a verdict of $15,000 in favor of Fred Mertine of Rosendale, after a 6-day trial of civil action before Justice Edward S. Conway that resulted from a traffic accident on July 7, 1969.

The verdict was against Colin E. Becker, of Kingston, operator of the second truck involved in the accident, and the owner of the sand and gravel truck, Thomas A. Hricisak also of Kingston.

Mertine, who sustained serious injuries in the accident that occurred on Lawrenceville Road in Rosendale, had stopped a garbage truck in front of the Hornaker residence a short time before the vehicle reportedly was struck by the sand

Damaging Testimony Related

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON

Damaging testimony by a prosecution witness was related Wednesday at the murder trial of Rodney Arnold, 30, of Kerhonkson, before County Judge Raymond J. Mino and a jury in County Court.

Arnold, a former guard at Eastern Correctional Institute at Napanoch, is accused of the fatal shooting of Mrs. Elizabeth Blaustein, 31, a mother of three, in her station wagon in Accord on the morning of June 1, 1970.

The surprise witness yesterday was John R. Bennett, a truck driver from Easton, Pa., who testified he talked with Mrs. Blaustein as she was slumped over in her vehicle before she was removed to the Ellenville Community Hospital where she died.

Bennett said as he approached the woman, she said "she had shot herself" and occurred. The witness said he two metal fragments reportedly along Route 209 in Accord between 10 and 10:30 p.m. May 31, and she saw a station wagon which resembled the Blaustein vehicle parked on the shoulder.

Investigator Robert Horn of the State Police laboratory, testified about numerous articles of evidence that he had examined on June 2. Investigators Fred Cooper and Michael Mahoney, who participated in the early investigation, were other witnesses.

Defense counsel immediately moved for a mistrial on the grounds that the missing evidence report was prejudicial to his client. The motion was denied.

Other witnesses called by District Attorney Francis J. Vogt included Mrs. Delores McNeil of Kerhonkson, said she was or where the shooting disclosing that a container with and her husband were driving

Elmendorf Proposes Changes For John Street Parking Lot

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Major changes to the county-owned John Street parking lot which would turn it into an income producing and efficient parking property are being proposed by County Legislator Lester C. Elmendorf (R-Dist. 2) who has filed a resolution calling for a $40,000 bond issue to accomplish the change.

Specifically Elmendorf, on the recommendation of the Ulster County Parking Agency, proposes that:

- The present parking meters at the lot be sold and automatic parking devices (ticket dispensing machinery) installed on the property which is located behind the jail on Wall Street and bounded by John and Crown Streets.

- Employ an attendant at the lot full time during the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Friday.

- Charge a ten cent per hour fee for the first hour and each hour thereafter.

- The County Building Committee appoint and establish an Ulster County Parking Lot authority and that it have jurisdiction over all county-owned parking lots including the one on Main Street across from the Ulster County Office Building.

Included in the bond issue would be acquisition and installation of the automatic parking devices, the erection of a brick wall to bring the property into keeping with surrounding colonial landscaping and building decor, the straightening of sidewalks and installation of brick between the sidewalk and the curb. Surveying and landscaping are also included, Elmendorf explained.

The parking committee, in its report states, "We feel that by initiating and installing this particular system that the revenue or total income per year would run approximately $30,000 conservatively. (125 parking spaces are available). Total operating cost would be about

LESTER C. ELMENDORF

$10,000 leaving a net income of $20,000.

"This money could be applied to purchase additional needed land adjacent or close by the present County Office Building on Fair and Main Streets.

"This we believe to be a more efficient method of operating the John Street lot and at the same time provide the county with a maximum amount of revenue."

According to Elmendorf, the approximate cost of the acquisition and installation of the equipment at the John Street lot is about $18,000. The meters presently in use must be replaced in the near future at an approximate cost of $8,200.

He said the committee feels that the metered parking lots are not satisfactory and that public acceptance of an attended parking lot is more efficient and more profitable. A study shows that a good, fully automated ticket control unit generates from $250 to $280 per space per year based on the 125 spaces available or about $30,000 a year.

Records show that income from the meters over the past ten years ranges from $10,893 in 1961 and steadily declines to $4,051 in 1970, as of Aug. 31 each year.

An independent survey made by a member of the parking committee, Archie Wildblood, ate last summer, showed that between noon and 1 p.m. on five different occasions there were between 57 and 80 meter violations, a number of meters under repair and others illegally parked.

Other members of the parking committee include George Schneider, chairman; Anthony Pizzarelli, secretary; Clifford Bunting, Robert Meeker, Richard Fredenberg, Peter Weider.

According to Elmendorf, the approximate cost of the acquisition and installation of the equipment at the John Street lot is about $18,000. The meters presently in use must be replaced in the near future at an approximate cost of $8,200.

MEETING ON CRISIS — New York State Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea, left, meets with Ulster County Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, right, and Ulster County Legislative Chairman Peter J. Savago to discuss the proposal by Gov. Rockefeller to close the New Paltz Campus School. The two Ulster County lawmakers met in the speaker's office to impress upon him the economic plight which closing the school would cause.

Bell, Savago Meet On Campus School

ALBANY Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-Woodstock) recently met with a delegation of students, parents and teachers from the New Paltz Campus School to discuss Governor Rockefeller's proposal to abolish the Campus School.

The meeting took place in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee offices. Peter J. Savago, Chairman of the Ulster County Legislature, who has been working very closely with Assemblyman Bell to save the campus school, also participated in the meeting along with Dr. Irving Freedman, Ways and Means education staff expert and Henry Dullea, assistant to State University Chancellor Ernest Boyer. Students from the campus school also participated in the meeting and asked questions about the Governor's proposal and its effect on their school.

Bell and Savago assured the students, parents and teachers that they both were doing everything possible to defeat the Governor's proposal and save the campus school.

Bell said he voted to have the governor appoint the State Commissioner of Social Services.

The Ulster County assemblyman was a key supporter of the measure which passed the Assembly. The legislation, which takes the commissioner's appointment out of the hands of the State Board of Social Welfare and places it in the hands of the governor, would also call for Senate confirmation of the appointment.

Assemblyman Bell is a member of the Special Assembly Committee on Mandates on Local Government, which has been looking into various departments and agencies which have imposed additional expenses on local governments by using rule and regulation powers. Many costs imposed on local governments by the Department of Social Services, present.

which administers the welfare program conflict with the intentions of the Legislature and in some cases the commissioner has failed or refused to implement economy measures passed by the Legislature.

"The legislation I supported will do a great deal in making the commissioner more responsive to the public," said Assemblyman Bell.

"With the amount expended on welfare costs spiraling higher and higher each year, accountability and responsibility are items of the highest priority," said Assemblyman Bell.

Summitville School Sold

ELLENVILLE

The Summitville School, vacant for about eight years, was sold Wednesday by auction to John Petrillo of Middletown for $5,000.

Petrillo instructed that the deed be made out to his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Davis of Fair Oaks. Davis is the proprietor of Fair Oaks Motors.

The Summitville School property included about a half acre of land in addition to the 100 year old school. The deed for the property extends back to 1869.

According to Sol Sashin, business manager of the Ellenville School District, before the bidding began a Mrs. McKenna of the Summitville Civic Association asked the assembled bidders to let the building be sold to the group for $1 so they could use it for a meeting hall.

Her wish was not abided by. There were four other active bidders in the sale. The proceeds of the sale will be divided equally among all persons on the roles of district No. 6, said Sashin. There are 163 parcels on the district's rolls at present.

Rhinebeck Board... A Split

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK
The Rhinebeck Town Board appeared split down the middle, as were residents in attendance, Wednesday night on the ap- pointive versus elective assessor question at a public hearing.

Judge DeWitt Gurnell and Councilman Robert Wolfert appeared in favor of retention of the three-man elected board while Judge Herman Tietjen and Councilman Louis Asher spoke more heavily in favor of the one-man appointed assessor. Supervisor William Allen gave little indication as to which way he would vote, and told The Freeman that a decision as to whether the town would go to a referendum for retention of the present system would be forthcoming by the April regular meeting date.

The small turnout of only nine residents, excepting reporters, Board of Assessors, and Town members did not serve to curb debate on the relative merits of both systems which sometimes dissolved into broad discussion on differing theories of government.

All present were agreed that Rhinebeck's elected Board of assessors does an excellent job, and there was no quarrel with the professionalism of their performance but only with the system. And it was generally accepted that even if a one-man appointed assessor was agreed to that the present assessors would continue in some capacity.

In speaking with Lester "home rule" as his "traditional, Butler, assessor, it was conservative" reasons for his ascertained that the assessors stand. He added that ap- prefer keeping the election pointments could eventually board because they have become the way of American worked long and hard together, life, even to "appointing the president of the United States."

And he added, "I like to pull the lever when I get a chance."

Strong said he was in favor of retaining the system because "it is working here in Rhinebeck," and added that if it were not there would be 150 people at the hearing instead of the handful present.

James Hawco and Paul Gmeiner spoke in defense of the appointed professional. Both are members of the Rhinebeck Democratic Party Committee, retaining the present assessor system, with Love which has traditionally not run naming "loss of rights" and assessor candidates in elections because of a belief that they should be professionals.

Gmeiner pointed out that the reason this heavily weighted option for appointed professionals came about is because there have been too many locally elected officials who were just not doing the job and higher regulation was needed.

Hawco said that a man can be both "foolish and popular" and be elected as assessor, and that politics would be largely removed as a consideration if a professional man were appointed.

And Judge Tietjen noted that the mandated Board of Review would be able to override a poor assessment job under the ap- pointed method, where presently there is no recourse except a lawsuit.

Allen could not commit himself on possible salary, not knowing whether it would total more or less than the present three-man system.

An he said that the town population is about 5,500, with a mandatory first class town designation not applied until it reaches 10,000 people, but that it could hope for first class status because the population is more than 5,000 and there is in excess of $10 million in assessed real estate valuation.

REHEARSING — The Man Who Didn't Like Easter, will be presented in two performances Friday 7:30 p. m. and Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Children's Library, Broadway. The public is cordially invited. Rehearsing for the event are some of the youth- ful performers, (L-R) Mar- garet Bailey, Michael Wil- liams, Mary Bailey and Tim- othy Williams. Mary Lou Ter- pening, library assistant, is coaching the group. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Heart Executive Resigns

KINGSTON
Miss Katherine A. Bower of 14 Merritt Avenue, executive di- rector of the Mid-Hudson Heart Association, has resigned and will be leaving Kingston at the end of this month.

She has accepted a post with the New Jersey Heart Associa- tion as state program director and will work out of the Union, N.J.; headquarters.

Announcement of Miss Bow- er's resignation as executive di- rector of the Mid-Hudson Heart Association was made known today by Dr. Edward P. a regional Heart Chapter to in- clude Columbia, Greene and Ulster Counties.

She was instrumental in uni- fying the tri-county area through the innovation of a series of programs among them the Rheumatic Fever Program, the Heart Sounds screening Pro- gram and the Multi-Media Sys- tem.

Miss Bower formerly served as executive director of the Renesselaer County TB and Heart Association. She is a member of the Kingston Hospi- tal Auxiliary, the St. James Methodist Church and the Ulster County Zonta Club.

Tivoli School Sold Again

TIVOLI
The former Tivoli Free School has changed hands for the third time in as many years, with the new buyer New York City Doctor Paul Mok, according to realtor Joseph Millman.

The eight-classroom building, complete with principal's office and a 70 by 75 foot gymnasium, stands in the center of the vil- lage on Broadway and has been vacant since 1968.

Title has passed from former Germantown owner Lawrence Marrish, who had intended to create a lamp factory, but was deterred when he learned that the town taxes were sharply in- creased on the property upon his purchase.

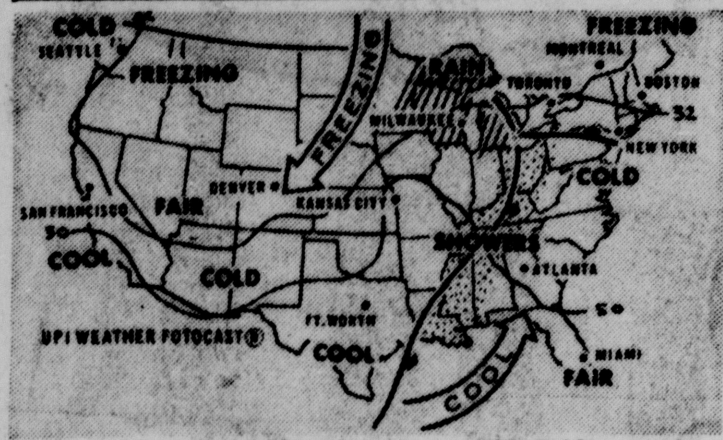

The last Tivoli High School class graduated in 1965, accord- ing to Joan Navins of Tivoli, and the Red Hook Central School District used the build- ing for some third grades after that date upon the merger be- tween the two districts in 1967.

When the Red Hook district had no further use for the build- ing, it offered it for sale to the Village of Tivoli in 1968 for the token sum of $1, but the village decided not to take over the property.

It was subsequently bought at auction for a mere $7,500 and has remained vacant ever since.

The large gymnasium was built about 1967, and is report- edly in good shape.

Village Mayor Mortimer Ap- pel once told The Freeman that the village "really missed the boat" in not picking up the property, but was hopeful this week that the new owner might provide some type of employ- ment in the building while keep- ing it on the tax rolls. Dr. Mok has not disclosed his plans for the structure.

Communist Forces Overrun Key Support Base

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist forces broke through the barbed wire perimeter of a key South Vietnamese support base near the Cambodia-Laos border Wednesday and overran it, military spokesmen said today.

American military advisers on the base and helicopter crewmen who tried to rescue the fleeing South Vietnamese were among the casualties, military sources said. Two U. S. choppers were shot down in the action and B52 Stratofortress Fire Support Base No. 6 near the Cambodia-Laos-Vietnam border at dawn Wednesday, spokesmen said. The base was manned by two companies of the 42nd South Vietnamese regiment, a battery of 105mm howitzers and an undetermined number of U.S. advisers.

Military sources said that under a barrage of rocket and rifle fire the Communists attacked several times and were repulsed but finally managed to break through and overrun the base.

The South Vietnamese removed the sights and breech blocks from their four 105mm howitzers and fled, the sources said. U.S. helicopters were sent to rescue the fleeing soldiers.

At least 60 South Vietnamese and nine Americans were picked up, but two of the UH1 Huey helicopters were shot down, one inside the base and the other outside.

Although the U.S. command said one crewman was killed and one was wounded, the sources said two other crewmen were missing.

In other action, Viet Cong terrorists killed 100 civilians and wounded 96 in a raid on a South Vietnamese town near Da Nang Monday, military sources said.

Another 20 South Vietnamese militia troops were killed and 46 injured in the attack on Duc Duc, while the terrorists Wednesday, killing one crewman and injuring another. There were no details on the Communist casualties.

According to military sources, Huey helicopters in the border area 290 miles north of Saigon, shot down two American trucks on Highway 21 between Ninh Hoa and Ban Me Thuot was ambushed by Communist forces 205 miles northeast of Saigon, town throwing explosives and the spokesmen said. One U.S. soldier was killed, four wounded and two of the trucks were blown up. There were no known Communist casualties.

JIMMY HOFFA AFTER DENIAL

Reign of Teamsters Appears at an End

WASHINGTON (AP)—James Riddle Hoffa's 13-year reign over the giant Teamsters union appears all but ended after the U.S. Parole Board denial of his appeal for freedom.

Hoffa, serving an eight-year jury tampering sentence, will retain the title of union president for several more months, but Teamster sources said he will almost certainly be replaced at the union's July convention in Miami Beach, Fla. 1972, when Fitzsimmons, or a new Teamsters president, also could mean early negotiations for a return of the 2-million-member Teamsters to the main body of American labor, the AFL-CIO which expelled Hoffa's union in 1957 on corruption charges.

Acting Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons, Hoffa's old Detroit sidekick and hand-picked stand-in, is rated the frontrunner to succeed Hoffa in his own right.

Hoffa will not become eligible for parole again until June 1972, when Fitzsimmons, or some other successor will have had nearly a year to consolidate a hold on the union presidency. Presidential terms currently are for five years.

Hoffa at the last Teamsters convention in 1966 managed to rewrite the union constitution to make it virtually impossible for other union leaders to oust him. But the parole denial appeared to dash Hoffa's last hopes of retaining control of the union after more than four years in prison.

The parole refusal Wednesday crushed Hoffa's pledge to the union's 2-million members shortly before federal marshals whisked him in handcuffs to the penitentiary in 1967: "I'll be back, God willing, sooner than our enemies would have you believe."

The board didn't divulge its vote nor its reason for denying parole.

A parole would have almost certainly put Hoffa back in the driver's seat of the world's largest, richest, most powerful labor union, in the view of most Teamsters sources.

Under Fitzsimmons, the union had begun a slow drift away from Hoffa's tight national control to a more decentralized, operation with increasing congressional investigators, roles for the 12 other vice presidents. Many reportedly would shy away from creating any new strong man president like Hoffa, who would dilute their power.

While Hoffa still has union supporters and may continue to exercise influence, the parole denial evidently will accomplish something a host of opponents, including the late President John F. Kennedy, the late Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, congressional investigators, other labor leaders and even some of his union members, were unable to do—get him out.

POW Families Quizzed on Mail

WASHINGTON (AP)—Families of U.S. prisoners of war have been questioned by House committee investigators about contacts with a peace group which relays POW mail.

The disclosure follows two days of reports that FBI agents have been questioning POW families about dealings with the Committee of Liaison with the Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam, a questioning families about the New York-based pacifist group.

The FBI has not responded to questions about the reported interrogation of POW families last summer and fall. House Internal Security Committee investigators were making inquiries about the same time.

An Internal Security source said its investigators checked on the Committee of Liaison for hearings on POW affairs last year.

The mother of one American serviceman missing in the Vietnam war told a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee Tuesday an FBI agent warned her to have nothing to do with the Committee of Liaison.

Another POW mother told the panel Wednesday an agent asked if she would testify against the peace group.

Other reports of FBI agents questioning families about the liaison committee, accused the committee of harassing families to keep them from dealing with her group.

The Committee of Liaison ferries mail from American families to their relatives in Hanoi's POW camps and from the prisoners to their families. The committee also has produced lists of men held in North Vietnam and others reported dead.

Nixon Summons Aero Space Leaders

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon summoned leaders of the aerospace industry to the Western White House today to promote jobs for 65,000 unemployed scientists and engineers.

The chief executive, who reluctantly signed a bill recently killing the Supersonic Transport, also scheduled a private talk with Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

Their meeting was set for 1 p.m. EST.

A White House spokesman said the meeting would cover a "broad gamut" of monetary problems, including the tentative agreement between Lockheed Corp. and the British government to retain Rolls Royce engines for the Tristar Airbus.

Dr. Edward D. David, the President's science adviser, and Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson met with Nixon and an assemblage of 16 leaders of the aerospace industry to tackle the problem.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President "has expressed concern over the amount of unemployment among scientists and engineers and is looking for ways the federal government can work with private organizations to alleviate the problem."

Most of the unemployed, highly skilled scientists are on the West Coast, particularly California.

Nixon initiated a program Wednesday to return $6.8 billion worth of federally owned property back to the states for public use, primarily park lands and recreation areas. He said he had ordered a review of all federal properties throughout the country to determine which of them could be put to better public use.

On another front, the White House made no secret of its apparent relief that the Democratic caucus had adopted a Vietnam resolution it could live with—particularly the two-year reprieve to end U.S. involvement.

Burns Widens the Gap

WASHINGTON (AP)—In another policy rift with the Nixon administration, Federal Reserve Board Chairman and former White House economic advisor Arthur F. Burns has called for a six-month limit on the President's power to control wages and prices.

Burns' stand, made known Wednesday to the Senate Banking Committee, widened the gap between the seven-member board and the administration over the course of economic policy, this time over the methods that should be used to control inflation.

The Fed, as the board is called, is an independent agency controlling the federal banking system and thus the nation's money and credit supply.

"This is a tremendously broad power," Burns said of a bill to extend the President's standby authority to control wages and prices for another two years. "It would give the President virtually dictatorial powers."

He favored a House-passed amendment that slaps a six-month limit on wage and price controls when and if they are formally implemented.

But a Treasury Department undersecretary, Charles E. Walker, followed Burns to the stand and urged removal of the six-month limit.

He said the President needed the controls without the restriction because he may use them on specific industries, such as he did in the construction industry.

He said Nixon would never impose general wage-and-price controls without coming to Congress for a mandate.

The standby controls expire June 1. When Congress approved them last year, Nixon said he didn't want them and never planned to use them.

This year, however, the administration changed its mind.

Nixon invoked the standby authority is signing an executive order setting up wage stabilization machinery in the construction industry, but the plan, largely self-regulating, stops short of full-scale controls.

And 2 Walked Away

SAIGON (UPI)—Two U.S. helicopter crewmen from Indiana, the only survivors when their aircraft were shot down over Laos and Cambodia, have walked out of Communist-controlled territory.

One of them, WO Craig Houser, 21, said he kept himself alive during his four-day "walk to freedom" through enemy terrain by talking to himself. Houser, of Connersville, Ind., was shot down March 10 in Cambodia. Military spokesmen released the details of his story Wednesday.

The other, Spec. 4 Paul Lagenour, also 21, saved himself from immediate doom by calling in air and artillery strikes around his position after the crash. Lagenour, from Odon, Ind., walked into a U.S. base in northern South Vietnam Wednesday, slightly wounded but "in good condition." He was shot down in Laos March 19 and had not been heard from for 11 days.

Houser was stranded in Communist territory after his OH6 Cayuse helicopter crashed and burned in a river about 20 miles from Snoul, Cambodia, he said. Snoul is 110 miles northeast of the capital of Phnom Penh, near the South Vietnamese border.

The young warrant officer said he kept himself going through the Cambodian jungle, across rice paddies and past abandoned Communist bunkers by talking to himself.

"I kept telling myself, 'You've lived through the crash, you've got to go on,'" he said.

The U.S. command in Saigon said Lagenour was accompanied by two South Vietnamese soldiers when he appeared in the northernmost province of Quang Tri Wednesday. He was flown immediately to an Army hospital, where medics said he had minor fragmentation wounds in his left leg and right arm.

Lagenour, a door gunner, had been with the 48th Helicopter Assault Co. that helped support the South Vietnamese drive into Laos. His helicopter was downed by some of the heaviest Communist groundfire ever encountered in Indochina while trying to get into a landing zone to pick up South Vietnamese paratroopers about four miles west of Lao Bao.

Another Huey swept down to pick up Lagenour, but heavy fire kept him from reaching it. Within hours, the Communist troops had moved in so close to Lagenour that he called in strikes by rocket-firing AH1 "Cobra" gunships within 10 yards of the center of the landing area.

He has about three months of his 12-month Vietnam tour of duty to serve, and a military source said he probably would be sent home rather than be returned to the war zone.

Credit for Experience

You can now earn up to 30 semester-hour credits toward a college degree for what you know, no matter how you learned it, or for your experience, based on tests in the College Level Examination Program. CLEP is a national program in which an individual can trim up to a full year from time on campus for his experience-learning.

What a person knows and can apply is more important than what facts he remembers. Subject areas covered include the humanities, natural sciences, history, mathematics, and English composition. Instead of stressing unrelated facts or specialized bits of information, the tests emphasize key concepts, general principles and broad understanding.

Not all colleges and universities participate in this CLEP program. For one that does in a given region, inquire of the nearest college, which should know, or write the College Level Examination Program, Worcester State College, Worcester, Mass.

High school seniors with high aptitude and ability to accelerate might find it possible to earn enough credits to skip freshman college year entirely. Persons of all ages who have acquired knowledge through means other than formal education, such as work experience, military experience, hobbies, or private reading, especially, should find it possible to score high marks in these college level examinations. With enough credits, they can complete college in three years instead of four.

When the day comes that leisure time will be available generally keep CLEP in mind. That could start you on a career to attain your college education in the time you could have available then.

Wives and Four-Day Week

The Gallup Poll has conducted a survey on just how people look upon the four-day, 40-hour work week that is being adopted more and more. That means a 10-hour day, but it also means an extra day off and a chance for nice long weekends.

The men are pretty well divided—45 per cent want it, and six per cent haven't made up their minds. But the women—they roared a loud "No!" Why? Because the dear loved ones said, a 10-hour day would be "too tough" on their beloved husbands.

Males undoubtedly thank them for their solicitude about health and well-being, but they also get the real message. What the distaff side means is they couldn't stand having men around the house for a whole extra day—right?

Bonanza for Enlistees

Entering privates in the armed forces would get almost the minimum wage of civilian employees. This is in addition to quick advancement after basic training. Also, the usual incentive pay, hazardous duty pay for air and submarine turns, family separation pay, sea and foreign duty pay in time of peace, and many other fringe benefits. This is the new pay schedule decreed by the House Armed Services Committee, usually the first step to approval by Congress.

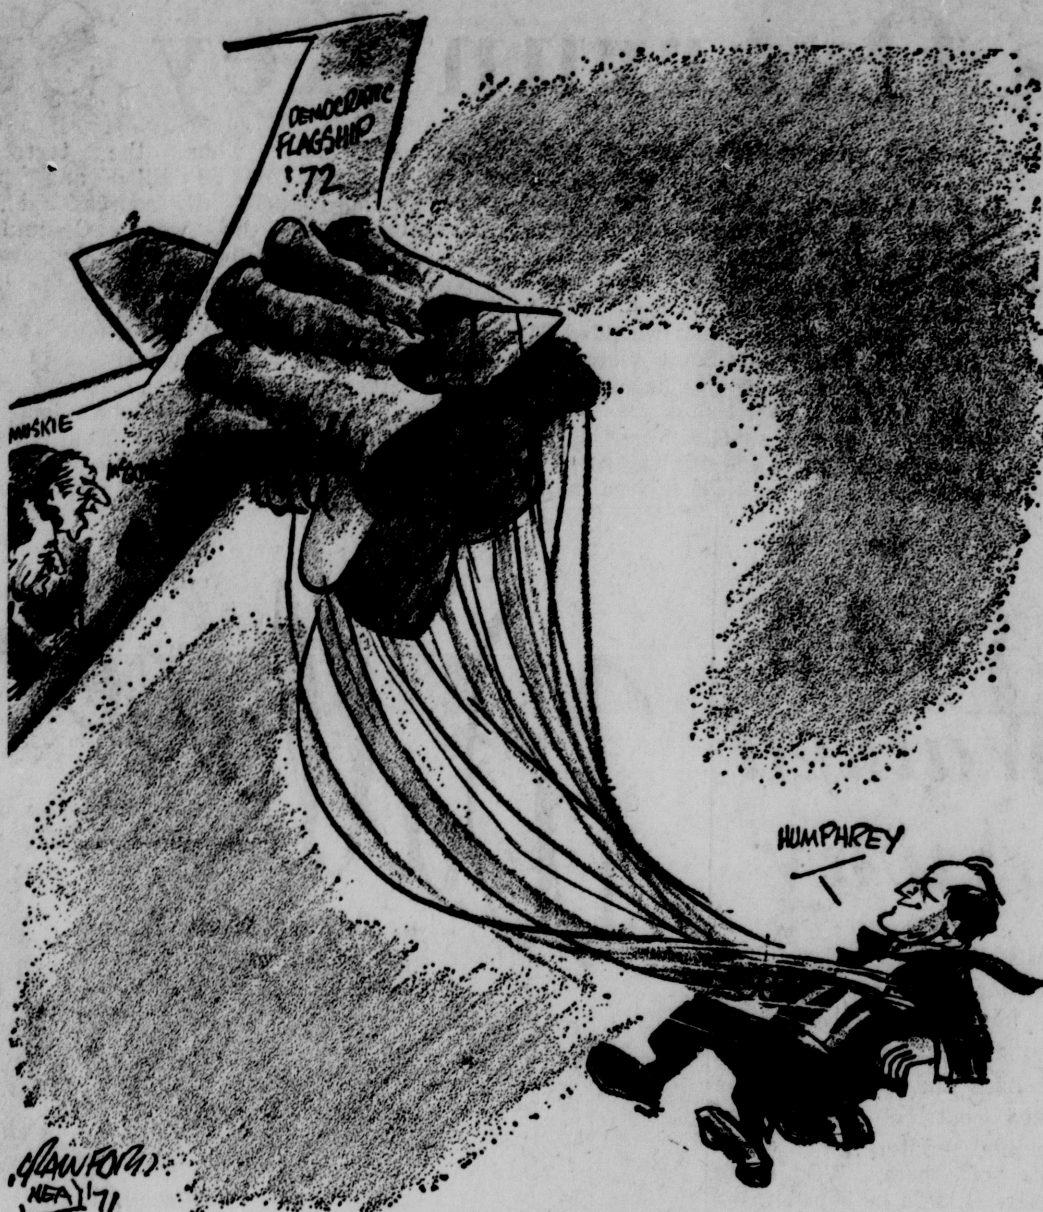

Pay for entering privates was raised from $134 to $268 a month, almost equal to staff sergeant or petty officer now, a tremendous jump. The overall pay package will cost $2.7 billion, triple the $987 million pay raise President Nixon had requested. If pay will produce an all-volunteer armed force, the committee has provided the sinews. President Nixon has wanted an all-volunteer Army—the Navy, Air Force and Marines already are. The committee gave him "all the rope he wants," according to Chairman F. Edward Hebert.

The pay raise went hand in hand with an extension of Selective Service for two years, a testing time to see if the new pay and allowances schedule will produce the all-volunteer force needed to shut off the draft. It is now competitive with the private sector. We hope it will produce enough volunteers to make the draft obsolete.

A bus driver found a wee babe on the seat of his otherwise empty bus. It was a case of love at first sight. He and his wife, even though they already have five children, have opened adoption proceedings for the infant girl. "There's always room for one more!" on a bus or in a happy family in New York.

Texas has joined the states that are having to cut relief payments. A one-third reduction cuts family grants from $118 to about $80 for more than 351,425 Texans. The well ran dry—the Legislature appropriated every penny available under the $80-million annual constitutional limitation. Try and tell that to the hungry!

A code of student conduct adopted by the Pittsburgh Board of Public Education bans disruptions, damage, theft, assault and physical abuse of other students; as well as narcotics, alcohol, weapons and dangerous instruments. That such things must be specifically banned is a commentary on the state of many schools today.

"I Thought We Got Rid of Him
Some Time Back!"

David Lawrence Says Unrestricted Imports Closing Down U.S. Plants

WASHINGTON — There was a time in American politics when the word "protection" was enough to bolster the Republican party's chances to win a presidential election. It meant simply that, as between the interests of the manufacturers and wage earners in this country and those abroad, the policy was to keep foreign goods from flooding American markets, thus causing business failures and a loss of employment for workers in the United States.

"Protection" was afforded by means of tariff laws, and the workers supported the party that promised import barriers which would safeguard their jobs against competition with low-wage labor abroad. But today textile plants have been closed down in some of the Southern states and in New England. Manufacturers of shoes have had to go out of business, leaving their employees without jobs. Steel companies also have felt the effects of foreign competition.

None of these American industries has been "protected" by government. Officials here who have been reluctant to take any action argue that the United States sells more abroad than it buys and therefore could hurt its export trade—or even start a worldwide "trade war"—if restrictions were imposed on incoming goods.

Within the last several years, the situation in the American textile industry has become acute, and a proposal was made whereby the government of Japan would agree voluntarily to curtail exports from Japan to the United States. The theory was that, as Japanese imports were held down, American firms would be able to hold their domestic market. But, in order for the program to succeed, a certain quota had to be agreed upon.

The Japanese government appeared willing to go along with the plan, inasmuch as its exporters were going to be permitted to retain the market they already had in this country, with provision for annual additions on a percentage basis. Negotiations over the past two years, however, have brought no agreement. Meanwhile, the Japanese have substantially increased their sales in the United States, and American companies have been further damaged.

President Nixon has been seeking from Congress the authority to set quotas if the negotiations with the Tokyo government fail. Representative Wilbur Mills, Democrat of Arkansas, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, recently had some separate talks with the Japanese textile federation, which announced that its members would voluntarily limit exports to the United States. But the terms offered were rejected by President Nixon, who called the proposal a "maneuver." He said he would strongly support legislation imposing import quotas on textiles, since there seems to be no other way of handling the problem.

The tens of thousands of American Textile Workers in the South and New England who have lost their jobs are not the only victims of unrestricted imports. In the shoe industry, somewhat the same condition prevails. Manufacturers in nations with low-wage scales are able to sell their shoes here more cheaply than those produced in this country. Already many workers in the shoe business have been forced out of work. There is a demand in this industry, too, for protection by a quota system.

A similar situation applies in part to the steel industry, but it is thought that the steel companies may be able to overcome their difficulties by improving their facilities. In any event, the whole question of "protection" is at issue. Does the United States government owe its first obligation to the American workers, or must it allow foreign goods to enter without restriction at prices with which American producers cannot compete?

"Protectionism" doesn't have the political force it once had, and the subject has not been one of wide concern largely because the products involved are manufactured only in certain sections of the country. But the problem is, in fact, national, the government will have to make up its mind whether it is going to safeguard the jobs of American workers or intends to ignore the ill effects of foreign competition no matter what the consequences may be to citizens of this country.

Why Duryea Wanted the New State Budget Passed Today

By CHARLES DUMAS
Associated Press Writer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea had a very strong personal reason for wanting that new state budget passed by today. Otherwise, he knew, he'd have lots of words to eat.

The reason is that Duryea made a big issue out of Republican fiscal "responsibility" and Democratic "irresponsibility" as he campaigned across the state for Assembly candidates last year.

The central theme of the basic speech he used in dozens of campaign appearances was that Republicans could be trusted to run the legislature efficiently and Democrats could not.

He was particularly fond of recalling the events of 1965, when Democrats held control of both houses for the first time in 30 years. Internal bickering delayed formal organization of the legislature for several weeks. Later, the Democratic majorities were slow to agree on how to handle Gov. Rockefeller's Budget.

As a result, the state passed the April 1 start of its fiscal year without a budget. To avoid the embarrassment of "payless paydays," state employees were given certificates equivalent to their salary checks and these were redeemed by cooperating banks. Bills went unpaid until the budget finally was adopted, on April 14.

Republicans regained control of the Senate in 1966, but Democrats held the Assembly through 1968, a year in which political squabbling again delayed adoption of the budget—this time for only a few days.

With Republicans in full control in 1969 and 1970, the budget was passed in time. Duryea spoke proudly of the GOP record and warned against a repetition of the Democratic history.

Here's how he put it at a campaign rally in Brooklyn last April 25:

"I'm also proud of the fact that the present budget was approved by the legislature—as it should be—before the start of the new fiscal year this past April 1. You may recall this is a deadline which in the not too distant past was constantly ignored by irresponsible, Democratic-controlled legislatures."

"And therefore, time and time again, the state has been forced to adopt emergency measures—such as the issuance of scrip to its employees when the payroll couldn't be met."

The pay-certificat device was used only in 1965, the only time in recent years that Democrats ruled both houses. Nonetheless Duryea used the identical language in ensuing speeches on April 30 in Hamburg, May 16 in Corning and Utica, May 23 at Lake Placid and June 17 at Mount Kisco.

He employed variations on the attack in numerous other appearances. For example, addressing new Republican candidates in Albany on July 21, he said:

"You don't carry around your necks the political albatross of the Democratic party's last bungling efforts to control the New York State legislature..."

"That same Democratic legislature was unable to agree on a budget to vote on by the April 1 constitutional deadline, and state government literally ceased to function during the summer of 1965."

And on Oct. 2 in Auburn: "1965 was the year the Democrats spent seven weeks trying to get organized—and didn't pass a single bill. They also couldn't pass a budget and had to pay state employees with scrip—phony money."

Duryea remembers all those speeches, of course. And he assumed that his Democratic critics would remember them, too, and would be happy to recall them publicly on a budgetless April 1 this year.

That's why, according to his closest associates, he has really been sweating it out.

Jack Anderson Says GOP, Talking About Campaign Spending Reform, Fooling Public

WASHINGTON — All the Republican talk about campaign-spending reforms has been so much pap for the public. For behind the scenes, GOP leaders have been holding up the reforms.

Their delaying tactics led to a shouting match between Senators John Pastore, D-R.I., and Marlow Cook, R-Ky., the other day behind closed doors of the Senate Commerce Committee.

The controversy was over reducing the Pikes Peak cost of political campaigns, particularly the high spending for television time.

Last year, President Nixon vetoed the first reform measure to pass Congress in 45 years. It would have allowed free broadcasts time for presidential candidates and cut-rates for other candidates.

The effect would have been at least to reduce the indebtedness of political candidates to the big contributors, who invariably demand government favors in return for their contributions.

The President announced he was killing the measure because it wasn't comprehensive enough, and the Republicans promised to introduce more "comprehensive" campaign-reform legislation early this year.

They are now putting on a public show of supporting reform legislation, but they are doing their utmost in the backrooms to prevent it from coming to a vote.

Reason: the Republicans usually collect more campaign cash than the Democrats are able to scrape together. This gives them a campaign advantage they don't want to give up.

Nation's Worst Scandal

In return for the big donations that are essential to finance their campaigns, too many elected officials are compelled to vote for the private interests which often are against the public interest. Parade magazine's Lloyd Shearer has called this "the nation's worst scandal."

The sad truth is that the American voter often can't be bothered to go to the polls, let alone give money. Democracy, it's wonderful, but who wants to pay for it?

Even the most honest Congressmen, therefore, can't entirely escape doing business with the pressure groups.

Those candidates who have tried to finance campaigns from small contributions have learned quickly that the fat cats are indispensable.

The attempt to produce a new bill that the President won't veto got off to a fast start. Pastore scheduled hearings on the radio-TV phase of the bill and issued invitations to everyone concerned to testify.

After four days of hearings, Pastore waited a week for additional comments, then closed the record and began processing the legislation. Working behind closed doors, he got an agreement to limit each candidate's radio-TV spending to seven cents for every vote cast in the last election. An additional seven cents would be allowed for all other advertising.

Suddenly on March 19, the flabbergasted Pastore received a hand-delivered letter from the five GOP members of his subcommittee urging "that the record should be re-opened and further hearings held." The letter was signed by Senators Howard Baker of Tennessee, Marlow Cook of Kentucky, Norris Cotton of New Hampshire, Robert Griffin of Michigan and Ted Stevens of Alaska.

Senators Squabble

Their letter was followed by a request from the Justice Department on March 22 "to make a witness available" to the committee. Yet a month later, the department hadn't responded to an invitation to present testimony.

Pastore called the subcommittee behind closed doors and accused the Republicans of dealing tactics. There were times, he said, when he had been the only subcommittee member present at the hearings. "I don't think it's fair," he rumbled, "to come back now raising all these questions."

"Let's get some of this settled right now," he snorted.

Senator Cook, noting that there weren't enough Democrats present to back up Pastore, asked for a roll call.

"All right, we'll call the roll," snapped Pastore. "But I want you to know I've got the proxies of the absent Democrats."

"I want to see your proxies," Cook demanded.

"When did we have to have written proxies?" thundered the Rhode Island bantam. "I talked to the members on our side. That has always been acceptable before."

"Well, I have proxies, and I have them in writing," said Cook.

"Anybody could claim they have verbal proxies," chimed in Senator Baker.

"If my word is not to be taken," roared Pastore, "then this committee has gone far beyond anything I have ever experienced!"

Senator Griffin warned that if the Democrats "cram this measure down our throats now, there will be that much more delay."

The slowdown has started. For the Republicans, despite their lip service, don't really want a campaign-spending reform.

Secret Study

President Nixon, shortly after he moved into the White House, ordered the National Security Council to make an exhaustive study of the U.S. capacity to detect and destroy Soviet missiles. The assignment was turned over to a top secret group, called the Verification Panel, which has gathered all available information on the rival weapon systems.

The President's purpose was to determine how far he could go with concessions at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks. The verification panel has concluded that it still isn't possible by our detection machinery to be sure that the Soviets have stopped construction of anti-ballistic missiles and multi-warhead missiles.

sued some influential and moneyed people that he does have potential. One rival privately says he thinks Bayh in 1971 is better financed than any candidate. A prominent Democrat rates the senator's organization better than Muskie's and nearly as big.

He is riding on his reputation as engineer of the defeats of Judge Clement Haynsworth and Harold Carswell for the Supreme Court, though in Boston he shyly claimed only small credit.

That fit his present low-key speaking approach. His talks show intelligent grasp of the issues, which he drills out calmly, only to wind up in emotional appeals delivered with dramatic understatement. His call is for inspired leadership to lift Americans out of fears and hatreds and top their capacity to be "bigger than themselves."

But this is the preacher's theme, and Bayh's problem is that Harold Hughes is the preacher who looks like a president.

Proposed Jetport

March 28, 1971

Editor, The Freeman:

We are facing a crisis here in New Paltz. The Welfare System of our state is unbelievable, and the proposed budget by Governor Rockefeller for 1972 is threatening our school system. The forementioned will place an unbelievable burden on the already over loaded taxpayer. Now we face another crisis. The proposed Jetport at Newburgh. Not only will this Jetport cause our taxes to rise again, and cause even more congestion on the roads than there is now, but it will ruin a most beautiful section of New York State. It will pollute the air and ruin our environment.

Two years ago we moved to New Paltz from Brooklyn. We left the city to give our children a chance to grow up in the beautiful fresh air of the country. We found this part of New York State to be a very nice place to raise a family, but if we are to be drowned out by the noise of jets, our air to become polluted from them, our taxes to rise again, and our roads to become more congested from more traffic, we will all lose. We lived about 20 miles from Kennedy airport before moving here, which is 15 miles from the proposed Jetport, and living in Brooklyn you certainly heard the jets and felt the pollution from them. We should all work together to try and keep this part of New York State beautiful and natural. We should all make Governor Rockefeller and the other people in Albany know that the people of this area want it to remain a beautifully clean and peaceful place to raise their families.

Executing the Unborn

March 24, 1971

Editor, The Freeman:

Recently capital punishment has been discussed pro and con. Capital punishment in New York State is not only restricted to people who kill police or prison guards but to the unborn. This form of capital punishment is called abortion.

While well-meaning people feel sorry for common murders, 75,000 young Americans were legally murdered in New York State. The situation is so bad the Attorney General wants to regulate the referral agency which sends women to New York State for operations.

If it is wrong for the State to execute a convicted murderer, then it is very wrong for the State to sanction execution of the unborn. But, I think to eliminate a 15- to 18-million dollar business that the medical profession sanctions will be pretty hard to overcome.

Greetings to Soviet Jews

March 30, 1971

February 25, 1971, the World Conference of Jewish Communities on Soviet Jewry met. The conference calls upon the civilized world to join with the Jews of the USSR in urging Soviet authorities to allow Jews to return to Israel, to enable Jews to exercise their right to uphold Jewish traditions and to put an end to the Anti-Semitism, which has caused so much suffering to the Jewish people and to the world.

Since most of us would prefer not to think of the atrocities faced by the Jews in Russia, we don't bother to ask what we can do. However, we have seen during the recent trials of Jews that the banding together of people outside the USSR is an effective method of reducing harassment and subjugation.

We cannot allow our Brothers in the USSR to feel they are fighting alone. Now, as the holiday of Passover approaches and we will all celebrate our release from bondage, now we must do something to let them know we care.

A greeting from you would express your solidarity with these courageous Jews. Hillel, this year, will order boxes of greeting cards that come with the address of five Jewish families in the USSR. Included with the cards are a Jewish holiday calendar and a Russian-Hebrew alphabet. We will provide translations of common messages such as "We have not forgotten you" in Russian and Hebrew. What we ask is that you care enough to send $1.00 to Jay Bloom, Faculty Tower 814, SUNY, New Paltz, N.Y. 12561 to buy one box of five cards. (Checks can be made payable to Hillel). Soviet Jews want to hear from us. We must not disappoint them.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
JAY BLOOM

Good Reason To Be Scared

March 30, 1971

Editor, The Freeman:

My oldest son asked me a question. Mom, I'm scared, when I grow up will I have to go into the Army and fight? My answer:

This is your country, you are an American citizen. You have freedoms and justice now because others went into the Army and fought. There are a lot of ways you can help and protect your country. There are some adults who believe that physical combat is necessary. There are others who believe that honest, intelligent guidance by our elected officials is the answer. As you grow and learn, you will form your own opinions and eventually it will be your own decision.

My answer satisfied him for now and calmed his fears.

Now, when I reflect on my answer, I am upset. Ulster County is one tiny pin point in this country. Are other counties run like this one? Does big business come first in other counties? Are their legislators "fiddlers?" Are their County Boards run like they are the personal property of a selected few? Do other counties control the citizens or do the citizens control the counties? If all the counties are run like this one, then our country is in big trouble and my son has good reason to be scared.

Wawarsing Zoning Law

March 26, 1971

I might add, the present

Town Board did not initiate the zoning program. We inherited it from the previous Town Board. I am not afraid to make a decision, for or against zoning, when the time comes. (May I remind your readers, that I voted against the subdivision resolution—because I was dissatisfied with the way it was prepared and written. As we all know, that subject has been amended and amended, and is still not in its final acceptable form.)

Again, I welcome all comments from my friends and neighbors concerning this vital issue of zoning. I promise to carefully evaluate every one received.

In the meantime, I urge all of our residents, not to rely on hearsay. All of our Town Board meetings are conducted in public—at Town Hall—and when necessary, in central areas of our Town. When these meetings are held, please attend and ask all the questions you want. That's the American Way.

Thank you,
Councilman Jerome Z. Elkin
Township of Wawarsing
76 Westwood Avenue
Ellenville, N.Y.

Where do I stand? Frankly, I am neither for nor against zoning. How could I honestly help conduct a public hearing—when it's the Town Board's turn to do so—and have a biased opinion—one way or the other?

Here's what I intend to do. I will listen to both sides of the topic: I welcome expressions from every resident of our Township; in addition, I will seek outside help and guidance from other communities and areas—with and without zoning; and then, when all the facts and figures are in, will I make up my mind about zoning.

Another Airliner Hijacked; Boy, 14, Fails in His Attempt

By United Press International only as D. Ramirez. Passengers, "blow up" the plane. The attempted hijacking occurred at Birmingham, Ala., where a Delta Airlines DC9 was preparing to take off on a flight to Chicago.

A youth identified as John Mathew, boarded the plane, pulled a pistol and grabbed a woman passenger—Mrs. E. C. Garrett, of Bessemer, Ala., as a hostage.

Mrs. Marilyn Jodan, 25, of Houston, Tex., senior stewardess aboard the plane, convinced the youth to hold her as a hostage and let the 17 passengers leave.

She was joined by G. P. Bushenlehner, a ground supervisor, and they managed to talk the boy out of going to Cuba.

"He apparently didn't listen to what we said but he seemed to be upset about going to juvenile court," Bushenlehner said. "He asked if I could guarantee him he would not have to go to juvenile court and FBI office, said the youth was that if he got off the plane, charged with carrying a weapon aboard an aircraft. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of one year in prison and/or a $1,000 fine.

Synagogue News

Ahavath Israel

Religious services are held at Congregation Ahavath Israel, a Conservative Synagogue, 100 Lucas Avenue, every Friday 8 p.m., every Saturday 9:30 a.m., any every Jewish Holiday. An Oneg Shabbat follows every Friday evening service and a Kiddush after every Saturday morning service.

This Friday evening Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman will conduct the services and speak on Israel As A Nation, with information gathered from his recent tour of Israel. The liturgy will be chanted by Cantor David Katchen. The Mourners Prayer will be offered for the following whose yahrtzeit will be observed during the coming week: Bernard Alcon, David Berger, Gladys Cohn, Max Dubin, Max Friedman, Morris Gollup, Samuel Rothenberg, Isaac Sargman and Emma Waas.

Preparations are being made for the approaching Festival of Passover. Passover begins on Friday evening, April 9. Sunday, April 4, a model Passover Feast will be held for the children of the Talmud Torah of Kingston, called the Children's Seder, at the social hall of Congregation Agudas Achim, at 10:30 a.m. All children must attend the model Seder.

It is customary for the preparation of Passover for all leavened foods and utensils to be removed from one's possession. Rabbi Schechtman will be available all next week to make the necessary contracts for this custom.

Temple Emanuel

Sabbath services will be held at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue, Friday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. At this service, Lisa Pauker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Pauker of Kingston, will conduct her Bas Mitzvah service under the direction of Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn. The Temple Emanuel choir and Dr. John Park will also assist at services.

The congregation and friends may attend services and the reception in Lisa's honor following services.

The Sisterhood meeting will be held on April 7 at Temple at 8:30 p.m. The program will be conducted by Elaine Selden, social action chairman, and entitled, Ecological Dilemma. Program chairman is Anne Breuer. The nominating committee report will be presented and other important business postponed from March will be conducted.

The Basic Judaism Class, conducted by Rabbi Eichhorn, will meet Monday 8 p.m. in the Temple.

The religious school spring recess will take place April 10 and April 17. There will be no religious school on those dates.

Agudas Achim

Shabbat services at Congregation Agudas Achim, 254 Lucas Avenue, will be conducted according to the following schedule. Mincha and Kabbalat Shabbat at 6:15 p.m. Shabbat services at 8:30 a.m. and 6:15 p.m. Rabbi Howard Gershon and Cantor Herman Slomovits (Continued on Page 9, Col. 1)

Drug Case Is Adjourned

KINGSTON

Indicted on charges accusing him of criminal possession and sale of a dangerous drug—marijuana—Brice Francis Dalrymple of Ridge Road, Marlboro, was arraigned Tuesday before County Judge Raymond J. Mino. His case was adjourned until April 14.

Dalrymple, 19, who said he is a shad fisherman, was one of 29 persons indicted by a Supreme Court grand jury on March 17. He was specifically charged with criminally selling dangerous drugs in the third and fourth degrees, and criminally possessing dangerous drugs in the sixth degree.

The youth had been sought by authorities since the widespread narcotics raids conducted by authorities in the area March 19.

Price Correction

In Wednesday's advertisement of the Gov. Clinton Market, 777 Broadway the price of Large Sweet Juicy Florida Oranges should have been 69 cents a dozen instead of 63 cents.

will officiate. Light Shabbat candles at 6:06 p.m. Services are conducted daily at 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

On Shabbat morning, Arnold Zweben, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zweben, will become a Bar Mitzvah. Arnold will chant the Haftora for Shabbat Hagadol. Rabbi Gershon, in his address to Arnold, will present him with the gift of the Sisterhood of Agudas Achim and the gift of the Talmud Torah of Kingston. A kiddush, given by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zweben, will follow the service.

On Sunday, April 4, a Model Seder will be conducted by the children of the Talmud Torah. It will be held at Congregation Agudas Achim, 254 Lucas Avenue, at 10:30 a.m. Everyone is invited to attend.

Anyone wishing to sell his chometz may do so by contacting Rabbi Gershon at his home or at the synagogue.

Central Hudson vs. UR...

(Continued From Page 1) The case could have far-reaching effects, particularly on the power companies, while James G. Conners, has always figured that it would win strong opposition to overtake the scenery to the greatest extent possible, have deplored the "astronomical costs" of money for a settlement in the case against Central Hudson head powerlines and only last year, in Hurley, Central Hudson rerouted a major new power line because residents opposed higher than overhead lines.

Pine Bush Resident Killed in Crash

PINE BUSH pronounced dead at the scene examination by a pathologist. A 63-year-old man was killed by Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp, who investigated Murphy was eastbound on the pickup truck he was driving with Troopers J. J. Schetzel and D. H. Dymond and Investigator R. J. O'Hara. The body was removed to the County morgue in Kingston Hospital and Coroner Chipp with a verdict as to the cause of death pending an examination by a pathologist. State Police investigators said Murphy was eastbound on the highway, traveling downgrade when the truck failed to negotiate a left curve. The truck went off the south shoulder, careened back across the road and overturned off the north shoulder of the highway.

A September Start Projected for Mall

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

Architectural esthetics, reasonable prices, accessibility and customer comfort will be embodied in the proposed $4 million all-weather Midway Plaza shopping mall proposed in the Barclay Heights area of Saugerties between Route 9W and 32.

Daniel Cantor, Brooklyn developer said preliminaries have already been arranged and he is projecting a groundbreaking for the 200,000 square foot mall for September.

He stressed the mall will be a thing of beauty and the architectural esthetics will blend in with the rural atmosphere of the community. Cantor, who has been a commercial developer for 40 years, said the complex will include a department store covering 100,000 square feet and will offer the highest quality merchandise at discount prices. A supermarket food chain will occupy 35,000 square feet of space.

The site has easy accessibility from all parts of the Mid-Hudson Valley over major state highways in addition to the Thruway and is near the center of the population mass of Ulster and Upper Dutchess Counties.

The enclosed mall will provide all-weather comfort with air conditioning in the summer. The enclosed mall connects all stores in the plaza, Cantor said. The parking area will have a capacity for 1,100 cars and customers can move in and out of Route 9W and 32.

Cantor noted that engineering studies indicate that the plaza will become the hub of the Kingston-Saugerties shopping area.

The site is the former Fonda farm, embracing 19 acres.

The proposed 9W arterial route when extended through Saugerties will provide even greater access from all parts of Ulster and Greene Counties, Cantor said.

A survey sampling indicates that shoppers from Dutchess will find it easy to cross the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge and travel a few miles north on Route 32 to the plaza. He also envisions customer appeal from as far north as Hudson in Columbia County.

The Brooklyn developer said there are plans for locating a shoe chain, large pharmacy, restaurant, floor covering outlet, boutique, paint store, gasoline station, clothing chain and drive-in bank. Also proposed, but in the preliminary stages is the possibility of a motion picture theater. The mall parking area will extend about 1,000 feet on 9W.

As soon as the architectural drawings of Herbert Fleischer Associates of New York City are completed preliminary agreements will be negotiated. When the actual leases are signed the names of the store locations will be revealed, Cantor said.

Also when the drawings are completed, he said he will make arrangements to meet with the Town Planning Board and other town officials and outline his plans in detail. Cantor said that what he has seen of the Saugerties community he likes very much and would be happy to have his shoppers mall become an accepted part of the community.

At Paltz College Sunday

NEW PALTZ — Baritone Edward Thornton will give a recital Sunday, April 4, in the McKenna Theatre, State University College, New Paltz, at 8:30 p.m. The performance will be sponsored by the college's Department of Music.

Thornton previously appeared at the college in 1969, and has made guest appearances at Boston's Gardner Museum and at the Mississippi Arts Festival. The program will include selections from Bach, Schubert, Debussy, Duparc, Ravel, and Strauss, and a selection of contemporary English songs. Music faculty member Harry

Forecasts Off

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP) — From 1967 to 1969, four agencies made predictions about what Broome County's 1970 population would be. The county planning department said 230,000; the Economic Consultants Organization, 231,000; the U.S. Department of Transportation, 232,000, and the State Office of Planning Coordination, 231,000. All were wrong. The federal Census counted only 221,815.

Fire Chief Honored

The only rewards a volunteer fireman receives for his efforts are the accolades of his comrades and friends and the recognition of the community he serves at the annual Chief's Night dinner.

This was Fire Chief John J. Wood's night for honors at the annual testimonial of Saugerties Fire Department. He heard the village fathers, the fire commissioner and others offer kudos "for a job well done," he was presented with a gift, a plaque and his past chief's badge.

Nearly 130 department members, officials, visiting chiefs and guests attended the dinner served by the VFW Auxiliary at Saugerties VFW Hall.

Village Mayor Cornelius Cox presented the special gift to the outgoing chief and Fire Commissioner Richard J. Underhill presented the plaque. Village Clerk James V. Gage served as toastmaster.

Charles Granwehr, department secretary and chairman of the dinner was also presented with a gift from the volunteers.

Commissioner Underhill presented the chief's badge to the new line officers, John Kolano of Washington Hook and Ladder Co., chief; Ernest Dunn of C. A. Lynch Fire Co., first assistant and Edmund Whitaker of R. A. Snyder Fire Co., second assistant chief.

Several fire chiefs and assistants from town and area fire companies were special guests at the dinner.

Chief Wood, a member of R.

A. Snyder Fire Company, thanked the members of the department for their cooperation throughout the year and said continued progress and innovations have made the Saugerties Department "the best in the state."

Donald R. McCaig, former village trustee, who served as the fire commissioner, was guest speaker. He observed there were manpower problems in all volunteer units and recommended that new membership should be encouraged by upholding the fine traditions of the volunteer service. He noted that those chosen should be of the highest calibre because the actions of the volunteers reflect on the service.

The Rev. Joseph Hamilton of St. Mary's Church offered the invocation and the Rev. Frederick Imhoff, pastor of First Congregational Church delivered the benediction.

Recycling Project

SAUGERTIES Operation — Best Foot Forward, a cleanup and recycling experiment to be staged Saturday, April 24 was outlined at a recent meeting of the newly formed Saugerties Environmental Action Coalition.

The project idea presented by Jerry Bone, chairman of Saugerties Jaycees Ecology Committee, was reported well received and arrangements were discussed for implementing the program.

The clean-up will take place along every major road into town and as many other roads as can be cleaned up with more help. A list of the organizations attending the meeting indicates that Operation—Best Foot Forward should be an unqualified success, Bone said.

The youth organizations included Sing-Out, Saugerties, Young Marines, Little League, CYO, and three troops of Boy Scouts. The VFW, American Legion, and Democratic Club were represented and Arthur and Albert Sperl, local collectors, offered their help and the use of some of their equipment. The support of the town was again assured by Supervisor A. Michael Schovel and Councilman George Turner. Grant Morse, Mount Marion, Glasco and Main Street schools also had representatives in attendance.

There are obviously plenty of people already interested in the project, and the coalition should be able to accomplish a lot when they step off for the clean-up, Bone said.

But they still need more help—especially from adults. There will be lots of children on the roads on the 24th and Duane Allen and Mrs. Erwin Tate at the home of Mrs. Allen.

for them. If anyone would like to help, they may call Bone at home.

Bone continued, "We call it an experiment because its main purpose is to see how profitable future ventures of this sort might be. To participate, all you need do is save aluminum cans, bottles and jars, (unbroken), and newspapers and magazines. Then, call William Warner or Duane Allen and we'll add your name and address to our list. That way, we'll be sure to pick up your recyclable items. Remember, you must call one of the persons mentioned above in order to have your aluminum cans, bottles, jars, papers and magazines picked up. Incidentally, all-aluminum cans have no seam."

Fire Equipment Vote

MT. MARION-RUBY will be withdrawn from the Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire District's reserve fund and will not require the floating of a bond issue or reflect in increased fire district taxes.

The decision to place the matter to a referendum was made by the Board of Fire Commissioners at a meeting on March 17. Irving S. Atwood, secretary of the board, was authorized to advertise the referendum on the proposition in a public notice.

Plaza Homemakers

BARCLAY HEIGHTS The next meeting will be held Preparations were made for the forthcoming election of officers at the recent meeting of Plaza Heights Homemakers and Mrs. Tate assisting with refreshments, on April 15 at 8 p.m.

Charles Lounsbury, Lamb Avenue, Saugerties, Mrs. Roy McLaren and Mrs. Melvin Mills served refreshments. Chairman Mrs. Joseph Gavner announced the nominating committee for this year. Food donations were collected to be distributed by Easter to needy families.

On March 23, a class on grooming was conducted by Mrs. Duane Allen and Mrs. Erwin Tate at the home of Mrs. Allen.

Easter Closing

SAUGERTIES Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools, announced that Saugerties Central Schools will close for the Easter recess at the end of the regular school day on Wednesday, April 7. All classes will resume on April 19.

Health Food Business 'Doing Well' in Red Hook

RED HOOK
Two enterprising Red Hook women are getting in on the ground floor of the health food business here in answer to a rising public demand for more nutrition in its food.

Mrs. Donald Lancro and Mrs. Sam Lore have opened the L&L Health Food Store at 10 E. Market Street, and Mrs. Lancro told The Freeman that the two-week old business is doing "all right."

The store offers only non-treated food, with no chemical additives or preservatives, and Mrs. Lancro explained that her family lives on the natural foods and has been for more than a year.

The shelves include such things as rice, grains, fruits, mixes, honey and untreated cereals. A favorite right now, she said, is called "Crunchy Granola."

It is a cold cereal which is very filling. "You eat only about one-third as much as say Wheaties," she said, "and you're not hungry again until lunchtime."

While the prices on the shelves appear to be high, Mrs. Lancro said that the food is "actually less expensive than the food you buy in the supermarkets. You are actually paying $14 for a pound of wheat when you buy Wheaties."

Where does this food come from? "There are quite a few supply houses now," she noted, "but the demand is so great that distributors are often out of things."

Mrs. Lancro buys her merchandise from several supply houses in New York, Boston and New Jersey and will start importing Texas and California products soon.

"They are really quite far ahead of us out west," she said, adding that health foods have been going strong on the west coast for years and have only recently gained generally public acceptance here.

"There is a supply shortage because the crops which are used do not generally show a profit for two or three years, and United States farmers don't want to wait that long."

It is for this reason that Canadian fields are fast becoming the primary growing area for health foods. There is more virgin soil available and farmers don't need to wait years for the ground to become decontaminated.

Many people consider health foods to be bland and unappetizing. This, of course, depends upon how they are prepared, according to Mrs. Lancro.

"As your diet changes, your system will crave less carbohydrates and sugar," she pronounced, and she claims that a person's taste changes and that "children actually prefer health foods once they get used to them."

A popular past-time of late has been the communal dinners where everyone brings his own recipe and shares it, thus broadening each person's cookbook repertoire. One such recent outing in this area attracted more than 200 persons.

And Mrs. Lancro adds another reason why her family has gone with the health foods, and why she has gone into the business of selling them.

"Many preservative chemicals have caused cancer in laboratory animals," she claims, adding that these are probably partially behind the rise in the cancer rate in humans also.

Cantine Lists Merger With Brooklyn Company

SAUGERTIES
Old Town Corporation of Brooklyn and Martin Cantine Corporation of Saugerties have announced that their companies and principal shareholders have reached "an agreement in principle" whereby a subsidiary of the Brooklyn firm will acquire, by merger, the Saugerties papermaking company.

Canfield Sells Parker Items

KINGSTON
Canfield Supply Company, 25 Dederick Street, is now stocking Parker hydraulic and pneumatic quick couplers and air line blow guns, it was announced recently.

John R. Shults Jr., of the distributor, received the franchise covering these items from G. C. Stephens, sales vice-president of the fluid connectors group of Parker Hannifin Corporation. Technical cooperation on the products will be provided by J. D. Puskar, Parker Hannifin territory manager.

Old Town Corporation is a manufacturer and distributor of coated paper products, electrostatic copy machines and related papers and supplies. Martin Cantine Company is a manufacturer of coated paper.

It was noted that shareholders of the Martin Cantine Company will exchange, on a one to one basis, their common stock for Old Town common stock.

Formal agreements are currently being prepared and are expected to be executed within the next several days, subject to approval by the Cantine stockholders.

Veteran News

KINGSTON Veterans and servicemen waiting to buy mobile homes under the newly revamped GI home loan program got the go ahead recently to plan their purchase, according to Charles Culver, state veteran counselor and John B. Tyler, Veterans' Service Agency director.

The program, originally scheduled to start in December of last year, was delayed until legal details authorizing regulations could be developed.

Under the new program, Tyler and Culver said the maximum loan for both a mobile home and a suitably developed lot is $17,500. It provides a maximum of $10,000 for the trailer and $7,500 for the lot.

According to the veterans' official, the interest rate for the mobile home alone may not exceed 10.75 per cent simple annual interest, while the interest on the lot portion of the loan may not exceed 7.50 per cent simple annual interest.

Mobile home purchasers are required to obtain hazard insurance to protect against loss of the security.

Other safeguards designed to protect the veteran home purchaser, the Veterans' official noted, include the requirement of a written warranty supplied by the manufacturer. In addition, dealers may be suspended from participating in the home loan program for practices which may be termed unethical, unfair or prejudicial to the veteran purchasers.

Culver and Tyler explained that in order to qualify under the program, mobile homes must be a minimum of 40 feet long and ten feet wide, with a minimum of 400 square feet.

For information and assistance in applying for a loan under the GI home loan program visit, write, or call the local office of the NYS Division of Veterans' Affairs and Veterans' Service Agency located at County Office Building, Fair Street. Office hours Monday through Friday, 9 to 5.

Did you know, the Veterans' officials asked, that the interest rate on GI loans for conventional homes has now dropped to 7 per cent? The new lower rate now opens the way for many lower income veterans to participate in the program. The GI home loan program no longer carries deadlines for making application. All veterans with unused entitlement, whether World War II, Korean, Post-Korean, or Vietnam Era, can use it under the new program.

Non-service connected pension payments may now be within reach of many area widows, veterans, and their children as a result of recent legislation. Because of a liberalization of the laws, many persons who filed previously for pension were denied because of excessive income. Some of them may now be eligible.

Community Representatives to Meet

UCCC Landscape Development Topic

STONE RIDGE
A committee composed of community representatives will meet Friday at the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College to further consider a proposed Landscape Development program for the college.

The luncheon-meeting is being called by Dean of Faculty Robert J. Markes, who has been making a study of what would be needed for such a program.

At the initial meeting Jan. 27, community businessmen and leaders indicated their interest in seeing UCCC offer a program for students in Landscape Development. They asked Dean Markes to explore the program further to try to determine what areas it should encompass and whether it should be a one-year diploma program and/or a two-year degree program as well as the possibility of special courses.

Those being invited to the luncheon include James Ashton, of the Farm and Home Center of the U.S. Extension Service; Alexander Banyo, of Green Acres; Richard Boice of Boice Brothers Dairy; Glenn Cole, of the State Department of Environmental Conservation; Harry Decker, of the State Conservation Department; Charles Dedrick Jr., of Charles M. Dedrick, Incorporated; John Espy of the Wiltwyck Country Club; George Hughes, of the Twaalfskill Country Club; and Francis Mulvaney, of the Soil Conservation Service of the U.S. Agriculture Department.

Also Andrew Murphy III, Director of the Kingston Recreation Dept.; Orville Norman, of the Kingston Garden Center; William Palmer, of the Ulster County Cooperative Extension Service; Donald Schoonmaker, of Valley Gardens Inc.; Gerry Schwartz, of Colonial Roofing Inc.; John M. Walker, of Kingston; Joseph White, of the Arnold Palmer Golf Facility; Burton Davis, of Burgevin Florists Inc.; Alex F. Gerlak, of Kingston; Hank Reesman; T. H. Anderson, of the Anderson Landscaping Co.; Fred Triflco, of the Woodstock Garden Center; Tom Davenport, of Accord; Herbert Kessman, of the Kessman Landscaping Co., and Arthur Ellis, Nelson Johnson and Leonard Kelly, of the Hudson Valley Opportunities Industrialization Center.

College officials attending in addition to Dean Markes will be Raymond W. Garraghan, chairman of the Board of Trustees; Mrs. George Bushnell and Robert Kelder, two members of the Board of Trustees; President George B. Erbstein; Dean of Students David Bartlett; Dean of Administration Robert T. Brown; Charles Schenck, Director of Admissions; Richard Glazer, chairman of the Division of Biological and Health Sciences; and Irma Gray and J. C. Haviland, assistants to the president.

First Class Status Complicating Factor

New Paltz Ponders Assessor Law

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ

The Town of New Paltz followed what it thought was the letter of the new state assessor law and held a public hearing on the question of elected versus appointed assessors and set a date of June 5 for a public referendum on the question. It looks now as if it may have all been for naught.

The complicating factor in the New Paltz situation was the question of first class town status. According to the 1970 census, New Paltz has broken the 10,000 population mark, and according to state law, is eligible for first class town status.

Town Supervisor Anthony J. Moriello contacted the state's Office of Local Government, and that office told him that New Paltz would have to become a first class town whether it wanted to or not, but when it had to take the action was not completely clear.

Moriello's next question was how first class status would affect the new assessor law. The point of contention was whether or not the new law superceded existing state law with regard to towns. Existing law mandates the appointment of assessors for first class towns without option.

The initial and tentative answer was that the new state law did supercede the existing laws. But as further checking among state agencies was done, the answer became more and more cloudy, Moriello said.

The Town Board was operating under a time structure. The new state law said a town had to hold a public referendum desire to retain the voter's franchise in as many areas as possible. So the Town Board went ahead and set the date for the referendum.

Now Moriello has received further word from the Office of Local Government, and the word is New Paltz will have to become a first class town by Nov. 1. Also, the new state assessor law does not appear to supercede existing law, and the town will probably have to go to one full-time appointed assessor.

Moriello and other town officials are meeting with representatives of the Office of Local Government early next week, and hope to have a final, definite, ruling on the subject before the next town board meeting April 14.

As matters stand now, the town has gone to a lot of work for nothing. "We would still prefer to have the opinion of the community honored," Moriello said, but if the present rulings stick "New Paltz will become a victim of the laws."

Red Hook Reapport—Caution

RED HOOK County Representative Madison Sipperley Jr., R-Red Hook, today issued a statement cautioning his constituents to "proceed with extreme caution in the matter of reapportionment."

He said that there has been talk for about six months that the county must again be reapportioned. "Barring some new development which we cannot foresee, we can now consider reapportionment this year as a foregone conclusion," he stated.

This can be expected in time for the November election, and Sipperley forecast that the first stages of reapportionment should come to pass in "about six weeks."

"This is not something decided upon by the Board," he noted. "The courts have indicated clearly that states and counties must reapportion themselves if population changes indicated that it is necessary."

The Board of Representatives now consists of 37 members. "Most Dutchess residents seem to think that the Board is a bit too large," he declared.

He added that the form of government which had the town supervisors wearing two hats was "reasonably good four decades ago. But we have already learned from the census that Dutchess County is the sixth-fastest-growing county in the state."

He decried the use of a full-time board, as in Westchester, as another "sizeable and unwanted expense for Dutchess residents."

Sipperley asked, "How many representatives should we have? I suggest we start with a base figure of 32 and either add or subtract carefully from that point." He asserted that cutting the number down too low would result in a fulltime board composed "only of men who were wealthy or retired."

Ellenville Traffic: An Agreement Reached

ELLENVILLE Agreement was reached among 22 representatives of various Ellenville businesses, civic organizations, and emergency squads on a proposal for the alleviation of Ellenville's annual summer traffic crush at a meeting Tuesday night, according to Ellenville Village Manager Lawrence E. Eyres. The proposal will be presented to the Ellenville Board of Trustees for their approval Monday night April 5. It includes recommendations for restricted parking in certain areas, left turn lanes at critical points, and more on the spot assistance and control by uniformed traffic police, Eyres said. It will also call for as much off-street parking as possible, including the temporary use of unused Urban Renewal property.

The meeting was conducted by Eyres and Police Chief William C. Trapnell. Trapnell presented six possible solutions to the traffic congestion for the group's consideration.

Eyres pointed out that neither he nor Trapnell were long-time residents of Ellenville, and he said it only made sense to call on the knowledge of long-time residents, particularly those residents whose businesses or operations would be affected by a traffic plan.

One of the alternatives considered was a one-way street plan. One-way streets were tried last summer, and received extremely mixed reaction. The group decided to try their proposal first before again going to one-way streets, Eyres said.

If the plan secures board approval, Eyres said it will be implemented on a trial basis in April, before the heavy summer traffic begins.

The citizen's group voted to meet again about a month after the plan was implemented to discuss its merits, said Eyres.

All-County Band Festival At Onteora This Saturday

The Ulster County Music Educators' Association will present the 1971 All-County Band Festival Saturday, with an 8 p.m. concert culminating a day of rehearsals at the Onteora Junior-Senior High School Auditorium. Eight county school districts will be represented. Association president for 1970-71 is Lee Herrington of Rondout Valley Central High School; Ronald Westervelt, Onteora, is vice-president; David Tharratt of the Rondout Valley Middle School is secretary; and Albert Rothstein of New Paltz Central is treasurer.

The evening program will open with a welcome from Dr. Frank M. Harlow, superintendent of the Onteora School District, and the introduction of the concert conductors by Association President Herrington.

The All-County Elementary Band will lead off the program, under the baton of David Tharratt (RVMS), and will present the following selections: March Militaire (Schubert-Kinyon), Sleepers (Bach-Finlayson), Scarborough Fair (Old English Folk Song arr. by MacBeth), The Best of George M. Cohan (Arr. John Kinyon), and Great Gate of Kiev from Pictures at an Exhibition (Moussorgsky-Henderson).

Miss Carole Oncavage of Wallkill Central School will conduct the first part of the All-County Middle School Band's presentation — Spirit of Canaveral (Barnard), Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring (Bach-Ployhar), and Cha Cha for Band (Melyan). The podium will then be taken over by Albert Rothstein of New Paltz Central School, leading the Middle School Band in Ceremonial for Band (Erickson), Spinning Wheel (Thomas), Caribbean Holiday (Otto), and Love Is Blue (Bopp).

The All-County Senior Band will be conducted by guest conductor, Lawrence Bunney of Cobleskill Central School. The Senior bandsmen will perform: Toccata for Band (Erickson), House of the Rising Sun (Holcombe), Festival (Williams), and Americans We (Fillmore).

Tickets for the Festival Concert may be purchased at the door. County residents are urged to attend to hear the musical excellence of Ulster County young people.

AFS Scholarships Community Meeting Friday Evening

An American Field Service International Scholarship community gathering will be held in the Onteora District at Olivebridge Methodist Church, Olivebridge on Friday at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Alice Crost of Woodstock, Onteora AFS International Scholarships president, will be present to explain the aims and purposes of the organization. Meetings will be held in other towns in the Onteora School District later this year to explain the advantages of this organization to all Onteora students.

There will be speakers and illustrated slide discussion. Marie Snyder, recently returned from a year of travel, and study in Montevideo, Uruguay and Eva Arz, native of Asuncion, Paraguay, will discuss life and customs in these two Latin American countries.

Opportunity will be given for questions concerning AFS International Scholarship and the life and times in South America. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

Meeting Tonight

The Ladies Auxiliary to Hasbrouck Engine Company No. 1 will meet at Connelly firehouse this evening at 6:30 o'clock for a pot luck supper.

A meeting will take place afterwards at 8 p.m. All members are urged to attend and to bring a gift for the social hours.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Legion Auxiliary Reviews Events

American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 150 of Kingston reviewed the year's activities and discussed the installation dinner at the March 16 meeting held at the Legion Home. New officers for 1971-72 will be announced at the meeting and charter members will be recognized.

The local unit was organized March 21, 1921 and since its inception members have strived to meet their responsibilities to veterans of all wars including 800 patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Albany, veterans in local nursing homes as well as community service to new veterans and their families.

Funds from a penny social in April will be used for television circuit, TV sets for wards and single rooms where the impaired veteran resides, rocking chairs for therapy and recliner chair for the paraplegic.

There is a need for used and new games for the VA hospital. Modeling kits, paintings by number, puzzles, books are also in demand.

Afghans have been made for the VA hospitals and comfort pillows for the infirmary at Golden Hill. There is also a request for skeins of odds and ends of yarn for lap robes for wheelchair patients and the nursing care unit, and Betty Crocker coupons for the county kidney machine. Anyone having donations should contact the local unit.

Two $25 Americanism awards will be presented to a high school boy and girl at the annual Awards program. All eligible women are invited to join the Auxiliary.

MR. AND MRS. EDWIN A. SUOMINEN of 2 Maple Street, Rifton, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on March 17. More than 50 friends and relatives gathered at their home for the Silver Anniversary celebration. Married in Rosendale on March 17, 1946, they had been attended by Mrs. Margaret Schroeder of Long Island and Walter Schmitz of Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. Suominen have four children: three sons, Fred, Bill and Eddie Jr., and a daughter Mrs. Dennis (Susan) Banks of West Kingston, Rhode Island. Mr. and Mrs. Suominen are proprietors of Lakeside Studio in Rifton. (Lakeside photo).

Flanigan-Gallagher Nuptials

St. Colman's Church, East Kingston, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Kathleen Elizabeth Flanigan of Kingston to Henry N. Gallagher of Alligerville on Saturday, March 20.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Flanigan of Route 1, Box 335, Kingston, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gallagher Sr. of Alligerville.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. Mullins officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Lorne Grant, organist, accompanied Robert Krom who sang traditional wedding selections. Gold altar vases were filled with yellow and white gladioli and chrysanthemums and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected and empire gown of organza styled with an "A" flared skirt featuring a chantilly-type lace over the bodice, cameo neckline and trimming the front of the skirt. Matching lace formed a tiered bow which held her chapel mantilla and she carried a colonial bouquet of white pomspons and yellow roses.

Mrs. Raymond Gallagher Jr., Stone Ridge, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor in an empire gown of blue shantasy trimmed with silver braid. She carried a colonial nosegay of yellow and white pomspons with blue bows and streamers.

Miss Joyce Flanigan, sister of the bride, Kingston, served as junior bridesmaid. Attendants were the Misses Susan Lambertson, High Falls, and Debbie Finch, Kingston. They wore empire gowns of paleat shantasy featuring high necklines and full-length wide sleeves cuffed at the wrist. Rainbow braid entwined with silver trimmed the collar, cuffs and circled the high waists. They wore tiered bow headpieces and carried colonial nosegay of yellow pomspons with melon bows and streamers.

Raymond Gallagher Jr. of Stone Ridge served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Robert Clausi, Route 1, Box 355, Kingston, and Norman Keator of High Falls. A reception for 100 guests was held at Elmer's Inn in Ruby.

For her trip to Canada and Niagara Falls, the bride selected a white bone knit dress trimmed with black and red rose corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1969, and is employed by Ulster County Family Court.

Her husband, an alumnus of Rondout Valley High School, class of 1969, is employed as security guard at State University College at New Paltz.

Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher will reside at Alligerville.

The Red
Bokhara

Oriental design rug by

Karastan

Looking for an original gift idea for a MAN? Well, for size try on the Red Bokhara Oriental design rug by Karastan. This is one item of home fashions that a male could really appreciate. Its strong masculine appeal is revealed with one look at the fascinating geometric pattern and the quiet elegance of the deep red color. A man will easily visualize it in his den or bachelor quarters. He will also appreciate its unmistakable quality—the densely-woven worsted wool pile, the faithful translation of an Oriental design classic.

You will find the Red Bokhara just one treasure in our Oriental design rug collection. The price is surprisingly low. A 2'10" x 5' (approximate size) is NUTRITION PROGRAM — The second of a series of group sessions dealing with various facets of homemaking was held on March 25 in the kitchen-meeting room of Cooperative Extension Service at 74 John Street, Kingston. Eleven women who are presently enrolled in a nutrition program in Ulster County attended this session. The topic was Vegetable Treasures. Activities for the morning included a film strip, discussion period, food demonstration, and concluded with a lunch of various dishes which the women had prepared together. The Expanded Nutrition Education Program is a federally-funded program conducted by Cooperative Extension Service and the College of Human Ecology at Cornell University and is aimed at improving the diet of low-income families. Participating in the program were (L-R) Louise Howard, nutrition aide; Shirley Williams, homemaker; and Mary Jo Brightly, supervising nutrition aide. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Dear Abby

Shotgun Weddings?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
[© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I read your column faithfully and think you hand out some good advice, however I disagree with you on one very important issue: You don't think a boy or man should have to marry a girl if he is the cause of her pregnancy.

It takes two to tango, and it takes two to cause a pregnancy. If my unmarried daughter became pregnant, there would be either a willing bridegroom or a shotgun wedding.

The most important thing would be to make sure the child had a name. Then afterwards, if the parents decided they didn't want to stay married, let them get a divorce. It is not as much a blot on the child as being labeled "illegitimate."

I will be watching the paper to see if you print this.

— PITY THE BABES

DEAR PITY: No one can force a man to marry against his will, but the law can insist that a man support his illegitimate child. Besides, an unwilling bridegroom makes a poor husband and a miserable father.

DEAR ABBY: I have three sons under four, and I have a lot of laundry to do. I have no basement or clothes dryer so I hang my clothes outside. It is all right in the summer and spring, but in the winter it's no good because my clothes freeze when it snows.

My husband says, "My mother didn't have a clothes dryer and neither did Columbus, so when it snows, why don't you do what the Indians did?"

My question: What did the Indians do when it snowed?

FROZE OUT

DEAR FROZE: They let it snow. But that's an old joke, and doesn't solve your problem. Tell your husband to skip the comedy and take you to the laundromat.

(Hear Dear Abby, Monday through Saturday at 9:25 a. m. WKNY-1490).

'Sing Out Kingston'

One of the area's most popular group of singers and instrumentalists, the "Sing Out Kingston" young people, will appear on the stage in Bethany Hall, Old Dutch Church, tomorrow evening at 7:30, sponsored by the Music Committee. Proceeds of the event will be for the organ fund, and tickets may be purchased at the door.

This is one of a series of benefit events being sponsored by the music committee to raise funds required to maintain the pipe organ of the Church. The public is urged to attend and enjoy this fine group of young people who are becoming well known throughout the county.

DECORATION COMMITTEE — Soft pastel roses adorn the table in the home of Mrs. William Schmidt, as members of the decoration committee of St. John the Evangelist Ladies Guild meet to create centerpieces which will be used for the May 1 fashion show-luncheon at Flamingo Restaurant in Saugerties. The table decorations will be given away at the event. Committee members include (L-R) Mrs. Vytutas Mecionis, Mrs. Mark Johnson, Mrs. Gordon Cole, Mrs. William Schmidt, and Mrs. Robert Saturn. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Delicious food, lovely fashions, music and awards should add up to an enjoyable afternoon when the Ladies Guild of St. John the Evangelist Church in Veteran presents its fashion show and luncheon on Saturday, May 1, at 1 p.m.

The Flamingo Restaurant on Route 9W will be alive with flowers and fashions of spring. The event will feature the latest in Spring styles by Flah's, Kingston Plaza. There will be the new look of spring for the "young" of all ages.

The sounds of spring will be furnished by Johnny Coliukos of Hammond Organ Studio, Kingston. Models will have the latest coiffures courtesy of the El Dorado Beauty Salon of Saugerties.

Various awards will be presented at the show though the generosity of area merchants.

Mrs. William Spandfeller and Mrs. Stephen Ryan are serving as co-chairmen of the event. Tickets may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Thomas Luftring or Mrs. Robert Saturn, Saugerties. The public is invited.

Renown Cellist to Perform Here

LUIS GARCIA-RENART

The renown cellist, Luis Garcia-Renart will perform for the children of St. Joseph's School Friday, at 10 a.m. The well-known area cellist who will play for grades four through eight is presently on the faculty at Vassar College and serves as assistant conductor and principal cellist at the Hudson Valley Philharmonic. In addition, he also is conductor for the Hudson Valley Philharmonic's Orchestra in Progress.

Mr. Renart was born in Barcelona, Spain and lived in Mexico before coming to this country. He studied the guitar at 7 years of age and four years later the cello. In 1952 he came to the attention of Pablo Casals and studied at the Conservatory of Berne in Switzerland and attended Master Classes given by Casals in Zermatt. In 1961 he studied under Rostropovich at Moscow University where he also studied composition with Khachaturian.

He made a debut in Mexico City and has performed in Puerto Rico, Spain, and the Soviet Union where he played with Rostropovich at the Palace of Fine Arts.

Swoboda Legend Moves to Expos

NO HORSE PLAY HERE as Dr. Michael Gerard (C) examines the right hind leg of "Hoist the Flag," 3-year-old which was considered the leading Kentucky Derby favorite until it suffered two fractures during routine workout at Belmont Park Wednesday morning. The horse is not expected to be able to run again. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Derby Pick Breaks Leg

NEW YORK (AP) — It was just a lonely, morning workout on the training track of country-like Belmont Park. But when it had ended so had the Kentucky Derby favorite and hottest Triple Crown prospect in several springs.

The 1970 2-year-old champion broke a leg Wednesday and today thoroughbred racing's glamour division—the 3-year-olds—was wide open.

The injury suffered by Hoist the Flag at the end of an easy five-furlong workout was a shattered pattern and fractured cannon bone in his right hind leg.

Several hours after the accident, Hoist the Flag was operated on at the facilities of veterinarian Dr. William O. Reed near Belmont Park. It lasted nearly five hours.

Dr. Reed said the result would not be known until today. Immediately following the mishap X-rays were taken by Dr. Michael Gerard who said at that time:

"He can't possibly race any more. It's a question of whether we can save his life or not."

In six career starts, two this year, Hoist the Flag had six impressive first-place finishes but was disqualified in the 1970 Champagne Stakes.

"I can't believe it really happened. It's hard to believe, isn't it," said Sid Watters Jr., who trained Hoist the Flag for Mrs. Stephen C. Clark Jr.

And it was hard to believe for those connected with racing. But once the shock passed, the general opinion was that there now is no dominant figure among the derby-age colts.

Racing secretary Tommy Trotter said the one-mile Gotham at Aqueduct Saturday would have drawn "at the most, four." Now, without Hoist the Flag, as many as 11 or 12 could go, added Trotter.

The 1½ mile Wood Memorial April 17 at Aqueduct also promises to draw several who would have shied away from meeting Hoist the Flag.

The Derby itself on May 1 also should draw a much larger field, with some of the top contenders being Flamingo winner Executioner, Florida Derby winner Eastern Fleet, Bahamas winner Jim French and Unconscious from California.

Ron Swoboda was always popular and sometimes controversial in a New York Mets uniform.

After he contributed to the 1969 World Series victory over the Baltimore Orioles, Swoboda's stardom nose-dived like his head-first catches and the bullish outfielder never hid his displeasure about Manager Gil Hodges.

Well, he's not complaining anymore—after his trade to the Montreal Expos.

"I can tell you he's happy now, Montreal Expos General Manager Jim Fanning said Wednesday after acquiring Swoboda and minor leaguer Dick Hacker for outfielder Don Hahn.

Montreal Manager Gene Mauch is happy, too.

Swoboda, 26, a right-handed hitter who has been with the Mets since 1964, has a lifetime batting average of .242. Hahn, a product of the San Francisco Giants' organization, was obtained by Montreal in 1968 in a special expansion draft. The right-hander had a .255 average last year in primarily pinch-hitting roles.

In another trade, Montreal sent outfielder-infielder Jimmy Qualls to the Cincinnati Reds for outfielder Stan Swanson. The Expos also trimmed their squad to 29 by sending infielder Angel Hermoso and pitcher Bob Reynolds to Winnipeg and placing pitcher Jim Britton on the disabled list.

The Minnesota Twins released two well-known and injury-plagued right-handers Dave Boswell and Luis Tiant. Boswell, 26, plans to try out with Detroit and Tiant, 30, with Boston.

Bobby Grich, a reserve infielder for Baltimore, was optioned to Rochester of the International League and Washington trimmed its roster to the opening day limit of 25 by sending pitchers Jackie Brown and Ron Law to their minor league base.

The Cincinnati Reds announced that first baseman Lee May would miss the first two weeks of the season because of an injury suffered in a Tuesday night exhibition game. The defending National League champions already will start the season without infielder Bobby Tolan, who was injured in an off-season accident.

Frank Howard delivered two mammoth homers Wednesday as the Washington Senators prepped for the Presidential opener next week with a 6-5 victory over Baltimore. Howard's homers followed walks to Mike Epstein and both cleared the 70-foot fence 380 feet away in left-center field.

St. Louis scored six unearned runs in the sixth inning and went on to a 12-2 rout of the Mets. Steve Carlton pitched seven innings for the Cardinals, striking out nine and giving up just five hits.

Ray Culp warmed up for opening day with a nine-inning four-hitter as the Boston Red Sox trimmed Pittsburgh, 4-2. Boston put it away with three runs off Dock Ellis in the third inning.

Vida Blue, also tuning up for opening day, allowed five hits in six innings as Oakland ripped California's B team 6-3. Chuck Dobson pitched the final three innings for the winners, holding the Angels without a hit.

Bill Stoneman and Mike Marshall combined on a five-hitter, leading Montreal to a 2-0 victory over their top farm club, the Winnipeg Whips of the International League.

Tommy John pitched eight shutout innings and Rick Reichardt knocked in four runs with two homers, leading the Chicago White Sox to a 17-1 laughter over Detroit.

Pete Koegel's double broke a 1-1 tie, highlighting a three-run fourth inning outburst as Milwaukee downed Cleveland, winning pitcher Juan Pizarro's two-run triple highlighted a five-run eighth as the Chicago Cubs whipped San Diego 8-3. Houston Astros swamped the Greg Garrett allowed only three hits in six innings as Cincinnati beat Kansas City 3-0 Richmond of the International League topped the parent Atlanta Braves 7-0.

Willie McCovey collected his fifth homer of the spring, a two-run clout in the fifth inning, as San Francisco topped Los Angeles 9-1. The Giants' Willie Mays was sidelined with a slightly pulled hamstring muscle.

The Tokyo Orions scored four runs in the 10th off Ray Jarvis and downed the California A team 5-1. The game was played for the benefit of former Angels' relief pitcher Minnie Rojas, a victim of a tragic auto accident last March.

Sneak Preview for NHL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Just one week before they face off in the opening round of the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs, the Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens staged a little sneak preview.

Or did they? The Bruins battered the Canadiens 6-3 Wednesday night in a loosely played game that barely resembled playoff hockey. Phil Esposito and defenseman Dallas Smith led Boston's attack with two goals apiece as the Bruins returned superstar defenseman Bobby Orr to full-time service and ended a four-game losing streak.

Elsewhere in the NHL Wednesday night, New York topped Chicago 4-2, Toronto tied Detroit 2-2, Buffalo trimmed Pittsburgh 6-4, Vancouver deadlocked Los Angeles 2-2 and California topped Minnesota 4-1.

Esposito's two goals gave him 71 for the season—13 more than the old single season record. The rangy center had 145 points—19 more than his own old record.

Espo's brother, goaltender Tony of Chicago, did not fare as well. Third period goals 40 seconds apart by Vic Hadfield and Rod Gilbert moved New York past the Black Hawks and increased the Rangers' lead for the Bezina Trophy for fewest goals allowed to 10 over the Hawks.

Despite the wide lead for the Bezina with just two games left in the regular season, New York goalie Ed Giacomin refused to celebrate. "See me Sunday," said Giacomin.

Expos-Reds Swap

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—The Montreal Expos Wednesday announced the trade of utility infielder Jimmy Qualls to the Cincinnati Reds for outfielder Stan Swanson.

The Reds immediately shipped Qualls to their Indianapolis farm club.

Asher Tops At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Barry Asher, a mod 25-year-old Californian, took a big 111-pin lead into the third round of the $100,000 Firestone Tournament of Champions, whose field of 48 top bowlers faced a trimming this afternoon.

Asher, who placed fifth in the richest event on the Professional Bowlers Association tour last year, rolled a 1,775 eight-game total in the second round to a grand total of 3,494 for 16 games.

His second round total was on games of 227, 248, 207, 214, 237, 216, 201 and 226.

In second place was Mike Durbin of Dayton, Ohio, with 3,383. Dick Battista, a husky southpaw from Astoria, N.Y., making his first appearance in the big money tourney, followed with 3,379.

The competitors for the $25,000 first prize must win at least one professional bowling tournament to compete in the four-day event. Only 20 of them, however, managed to average better than 200, considered par for the pros, during the first day.

All were to roll another eight games today, after which the field was to be trimmed to the top 24. After 24 more games of head-to-head match play tonight through Friday night, the field will be cut to the five finalists.

Those five return Saturday afternoon to the Riviera Lanes for the nationally telecast finals.

Defending champion Don Johnson of Akron, who rolled a 299 final game last year, was in eighth position, but still well in contention.

High game of the day was the 287 of lefty Johnny Petraglia of Brooklyn, N.Y., leading money winner of the 1971 PBA tour. Petraglia's 3,266 total put him farm club.

Juick Five Takes Title

POUGHKEEPSIE Juick Five of Spring Valley came on strong in the second half to defeat Felicello Pipers of Marlborough, 101-91, and capture the 1971 Hudson Valley Basketball Tournament title here Wednesday night.

In the consolation contest, Sickler's Delivery of Kingston exploded for 58 points in the first half and routed SaVino's of Poughkeepsie, 107-84.

Pipers nipped Juick's 52-51 in a free-wheeling first half, but ace Dennis McIntyre and Mel Knight engineered the second half comeback that brought down the Pipers.

McIntyre finished with 20 points and Knight had 19. Mike Roland contributed 16 and Bruce Frazier 10. Len Williams hit 24 and Dick O'Neil 15 for the Pipers.

Rich Rinaldi of St. Peter's College bucketed 34 points for SaVino's, but Sickler's overpowering balance was too much jumping to a 58-36 halftime lead. Sickler's set their own pace after the recess.

Six of the seven players used by Coach Richie Amato finished in double figures. Wade Pittman, the Newburgh Academy phantom, led with 23 points and Ed Strong, former Sullivan County CC star added 23.

Other players in double figures were Larry Frazier with 18, Rod Chando 10, Glenn Berry 12 and Stan Henderson 15. Sickler's scored all but nine of their points from the field, said the tournament gasping presented Wednesday, April 14.

and wondering why they were not in the finals.

Rinaldi, sixth ranking collegiate scorer of the 1970-71 season hit 14 baskets and had six free throws.

Ed Searcy of Juick's, who was first team All-America High School at Powers Memorial last year, was voted Most Valuable Player in the tournament.

FREEMAN ADS BRING RESULTS

We've joined the team of BOLENS HUSKIES.

Dealers of quality lawn and garden equipment.

And, we'd like to introduce you to the bold new breed of Bolens to keep you ahead of lawn and garden jobs.

Husky garden tractors cut any job down to size. Available in 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 horsepower models that work for you year 'round. The Husky teams up effortlessly with a wide variety of attachments thanks to the unique plug-in attachment system.

Hydrostatic transmissions, electric starters, solid-state ignition systems and a plug-in attachment system are just a few of the big tractor features you'll find in our Bolens line.

Orbit Air lawn mowers for the average to smaller lawn or as a companion trimmer to your Husky tractor. These mowers cut, mulch and clean themselves with one pass because of a multi-pitch blade design. Available in self-propelled, electric start or push-type models to match your needs.

Bolens Mustang tillers break up the toughest ground. Times are guaranteed against breakage. Perfect for soil preparation and gardening.

As part of a nation-wide network of Bolens dealers, we're prepared to offer you trained after-sale service to keep your Husky at peak operating efficiency.

Stop in! We'll be pleased and proud to demonstrate the Bolens Husky features that mean superior performance on the job.

All-American Swimmer

Hawks' Larry Bushey Hailed as Greatest

By IRA FUSFELD

NEW PALTZ—When Larry Bushey first showed up at a New Paltz State swimming practice, Hawk Coach Art Stockin must have had trouble trying to conceal a self-confident grin.

But now that the season is over and Bushey has virtually re-written the College record books as well as having qualified as an All-American, Coach Stockin can let loose with a full-fledged smile.

"He is the most talented swimmer to have ever hit this area and I am sure he has been an inspiration to the young area swimmers who have seen him during the past season," the New Paltz coach says.

Bushey's road to New Paltz started in his hometown of Pittsfield, Mass., and more specifically at Williston Academy, a prep school at which he matriculated.

During his career, the 6-1, 155 pounder, began to develop strength and stamina. Enough so, in fact, that he was to become a Prep School All-American in two events: the 100 yard breaststroke and 200 yard individual medley.

Then it was on to New Paltz for the 19-year old hopeful. He had met Coach Stockin, liked what he'd heard about the opportunities here, and decided that this was where he'd do his swimming while majoring in biology.

Benefitting from the ruling which allows freshmen to participate in varsity athletics, Larry stepped right into the dividual medley with 2:07.2; the 200 yard backstroke with 2:07.4; the 100 yard backstroke with 57.9; the 100 yard breaststroke with 1:04.4; and the 400 yard individual medley with 4:41.5.

At the championships which were held at Springfield, Mass., College, a swimmer must finish in the top 12 in any single event to gain All-American recognition. Thus, he can be so named more than once.

His 2:05.4 clocking in preliminary competition got Bushey into the finals of the 200 yard individual medley. He improved that to a 2:05.31, good enough for 10th place and the All-American honor.

Larry almost made it in the backstroke, too. His 57.36 was 13th best. The time just before his was 57.33, leaving Bushey only .03 off the pace!

And perhaps most importantly for Bushey's confidence was the fact that in the Nationals he beat everyone whom had topped him in the SUNYAC meet the week before.

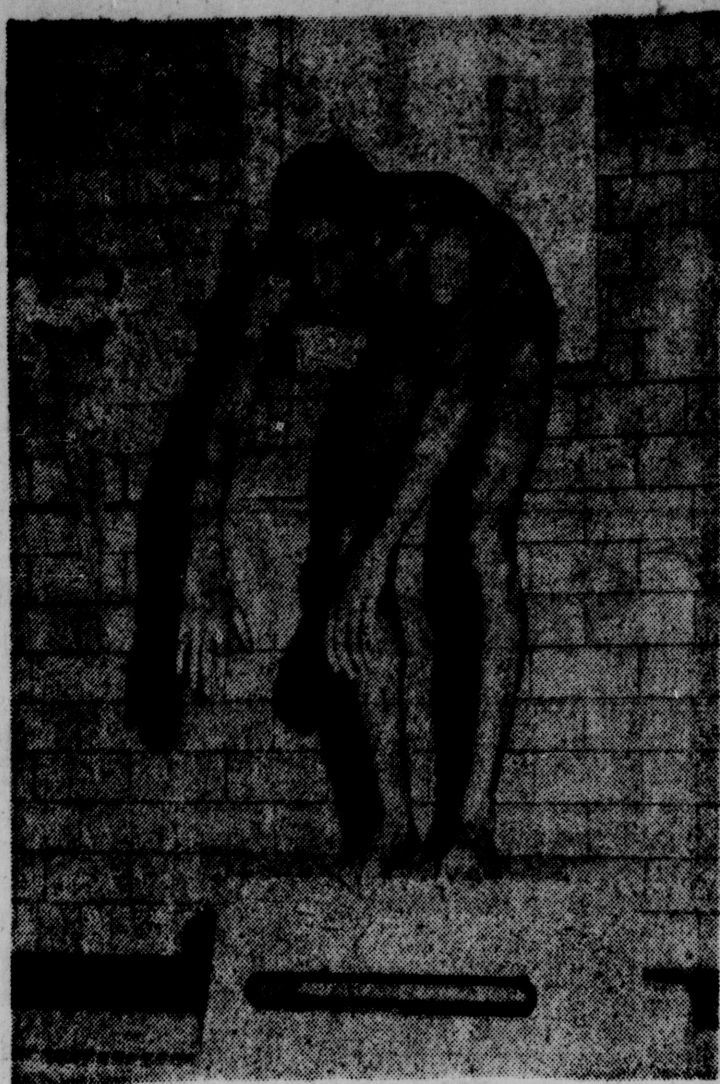

"I believe that there is no limit to his potential," Coach Stockin claims. "He has been a real pleasure to coach this season and has been an inspiration to the entire team."

"Larry has all the ingredients for being a great one," the New Paltz mentor believes. "All four of his strokes are mechanically sound. He has good size, good flexibility. He could be stronger, but most of all his attitude is beautiful. Although he was happy with the honor of being named an All-American, he is not at all impressed with his accomplishments. He is after something bigger and has already started working toward that goal."

"We are proud of him here at New Paltz. We know that he will deserve every and any honor he ever gets. I believe he will get something big because he is willing to pay the price."

For the exclusive circle, one must first be entered in the NCAA College Division championships. And to get there, the swimmer must meet tournament qualifying times in a particular event.

Bushey earned a spot in six events: the 50 yard freestyle with his 22.5; the 200 yard in-

Rockets Rock Nets 131-121

DENVER (UPI)—The Denver Rockets whipped the New York Nets 131-121 Wednesday to end the American Basketball Association season in a tie with the Texas Chaps for fourth place in the league's Western Division.

The Rockets and the Chaps will meet Thursday in a playoff game in Denver to determine which team will move into the ABA playoffs.

Denver led throughout much of the game against New York as Jerry Barnhill poured in 29 points and teammate Byron Beck added 28. Seven Rockets ended in double figures.

The Nets played without superstar Rick Barry, who averaged 35 points against Denver this past season, and Manny Leaks who scored an average of 22.7 points against the Rockets. Both Barry and Leaks were sidelined with injuries.

Sonny Dove poured in 31 points and Bill Paulitz 26 for the losers.

Denver outrebounded New York 53 to 48, but the Nets had the better field goal shooting average—50.5 per cent to 47.0 per cent for Denver.

In other NBA games, Don Freeman's 31-point effort carried Texas to a 133-129 triumph over the Indiana Pacers. Memphis beat Carolina 123-106 and Virginia stopped the Floridians 131-123.

Freeman hit 12 straight points during the fourth quarter to help the Chaps stop the Pacers, the Western Division titlists.

Gene Moore had 26 points for Texas while Bob Netolicky and Mel Daniels each had 21 for the Pacers.

Charlie Williams' 35-point performance led Memphis past Carolina. Steve Jones had 25 points and Wilbert Jones added 20 for the Pros while Bob Vega led Carolina with 25.

Virginia scored nine straight points in the fourth quarter to beat the Floridians. Charlie Scott led the Squires with 29 while Mack Calvin was high man for the Floridians with 28.

Al Tucker of the Floridians and Virginia's George Carter were ejected for fighting.

Sauer Speaker For OCS Dinner

BOICEVILLE

Dr. Richard Sauer, highly successful basketball coach at Albany State University, will be the guest speaker at the annual Onteora Central School Booster Club athletic awards banquet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Oehler's Mountain Lodge.

Sauer, head basketball coach compiled one of the best records in the Northeast. Werner Kolbin, former Kingston High star, is on his current varsity.

HERB PETERSEN

Petersen's Average Zooms to 207

SAUGERTIES Fourth round averages for the Bowlers Club Major League released today solidly confirmed what all area buffs already knew. Herb Petersen of Kingston is the hottest bowler of the 1970-71 season.

Petersen has hiked his league leading average to a whopping 207.58 for 87 games and has embellished that remarkable performance with two 700 triples (758 and 703) and twenty series of 600 or better. The 758 is second only to George Glaser's fantastic career-first 781.

Al North, the runnerup with 202.27 trails Petersen better than five points and Jack Farrell also cracks the 200 plateau with 201.60. Bob Schoneman (199.67) and Angie Fondino (199.48) round out the top five.

Sawyerkill Restaurant, with a 62½-24½ record, has opened up a 9½-game lead over PEPCO in the team race.

Miscellaneous records include Herb Petersen's 758, Bob Schoneman 279, Johnson Ford 1143, Sawyerkill Restaurant 3141.

The Major League leaders have accounted for nine 700 triples and 161 of 600 or better. Besides Petersen's two 700s, there have been two by North (705-716), two by Schoneman

(723-712) and one each by Mike Barber 709, Bruce Barents 705, league leading Sawyerkill Restaurant clipping at a phenomenal 964 average, still only two points higher than the runnerup than 900 pins a game, with the PEPCO squads. Three bowlers

Contenders Capture Senior Title

KINGSTON 2335 and Mike Stabile unloaded a 540 net and 660 gross for the third place Lucky Pins, who shot 2320.

Wayne Brocco's 628 gross and 600 by Ralph Kosiba sparked the Sparemakers to the Junior Boys title on 2333. The team netted 1778 and had 555 pins handicap.

David Ferraro's 242 solo, 567 net and 621 was part of The Feds' second place gross score of 2225. Robert Elliott added 558 and Tom Sullivan 550. Mid-City Pros, led by Ed Brown's 568 gross, placed third with 2174.

The Four Chiefs led the Bantam Boys with 1884 gross, followed by the Four Tigers' 1873.

and The Cougar's 1831. Kevin Campbell's 499 led the Chiefs. Steve Herzog decked 505 for Tigers and Steve Simonetti's 541 was high for the Cougars.

All four members of the team grossed over 500, as Woodstock Junior Girls claimed the Junior Girls championship with a 2221 series off 1702 net and 519 handicap.

ONTO EVERY CAR A LITTLE RAIN, SNOW, OR SLEET MUST FALL.

Life for an automobile is not all palm trees, polo ponies and white sandy beaches as some car ads would lead you to believe.

With a Volvo, you can accept life as it is. For better and for worse.

For instance, every Volvo we send out into the world is covered with six coats of paint and primer, instead of a ton of chrome.

This is one of the reasons why 9 out of every 10 Volvos registered here in the last eleven years are still on the road.

Naturally, we can't guarantee every Volvo we sell will last eleven years. That's life.

Non-Soviet Reds Condemned At 24th Party Congress

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Soviet and the Soviet experience of Communist party leader, in a speech to the 24th party congress released today, condemned attempts by non-Soviet Communist parties such as that of the Chinese to modify Marxist-Leninist theory or set up "models" of revisionism have practically joined up with those who are openly anti-Communist and anti-Soviet.

Pyotr M. Masherov, first secretary of Byelorussia's party, mentioned only party congress that got under Communist China by name. "Particularly repulsive is the anti-Soviet line of the Chinese leaders who, calling themselves revisionists, have made their principal occupation the defaming of our Leninist party of Communism."

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Follow through with the tasks you have promised others you will do, even though they now seem boring or annoying. Not the right day to buy that new wardrobe you had promised yourself. Await a better time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March. 20) It would be wise to follow the lead of others now, since what you have in mind could meet with delays and actual failure. Take no risks whatsoever, either, or you come up a cropper and could regret it for a long time to come.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those young people who will have a real propensity for drawing unusual conditions and people toward him or her. Give the right ethical and religious training early that will teach this child to cultivate the right kind of persons and seek out activities that are worthwhile. There will then be a positive genius for problem-solving occupations, provided the love of learning is also taught early. College optional.

If you want to visit your girl friend and your parents approve, do it. Do not let any boy give you orders about how you live your life.

MADE FOR MIDIS? (Comment) I am a great fan of yours and often follow your advice. But I completely disagree with the answer you gave about midis.

At first I didn't like mine either, but I've discovered the midi length is the length for me.

I eat lunch at school with mostly boys and they are quite popular and know where it's at. So one day I wore a pair of gauchos, a skinny-rib top and stretch boots. I'm tall and slim and I looked very good.

But I got some nutty comments. I took them calmly, and told everybody, "I really don't care what you think. I like it."

The next week I wore another. This time there were fewer comments. One boy said, "As long as you sit down and we can't see it, it's OK." They finally got used to it and I haven't worn a short skirt since.—Midi Maid in Philadelphia.

(A.) I'm happy you're content with your midis. You're in a class pretty much by yourself.

"Today is April First," remarked Y. "How about letting me sit South this once."

"All right," replied Z, "but we'll probably be sorry."

You older readers may recall that in the columns on auction bridge, Z always sat South. Y was North and A and B were always on defense.

The very first hand found them playing against their old friends A and B. Y got to six hearts in no time and A opened the queen of diamonds. Y won in dummy, discarded a club and promptly led the deuce of spades to his king. A had no problems about what to do. He produced the three of that suit without either undue haste or protracted study.

"I should have started playing the dummy years ago," chortled Y.

Then he proceeded to draw trumps, discard another club on the other high diamond, lead a second spade and rise with the queen. This time A was ready with the ace, led the seven of spades and B sitting East collected the setting trick with the jack.

"Just as I remarked earlier," said Z. "You should stick to putting me in the declarer's seat. I would never have fallen for A's flummery with the ace of spades, but actually I would not have had to try for two spade tricks. The clubs broke 3-3. You had enough entries to dummy to set the last club up for a spade discard. Start by throwing two clubs on the ace and king of diamonds."

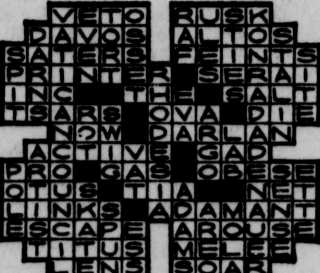

"Right as usual," said poor Y. "I do need practice at dummy play."

Calley Jury Relieved the Massacre

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—The Calley court-martial jury "relieved" the My Lai massacre in its deliberations and "could find no other" recourse than to convict Lt. William L. Calley Jr. of murder, one juror revealed Wednesday night.

"We left no stone unturned in our deliberation," said Maj. Walter D. Kinard, 33, of Columbus, Ga. "We gave Lt. Calley the benefit of every doubt."

The jury of six combat officers sentenced Calley, 27, of Miami, Fla., to life imprisonment Wednesday, two days after convicting him of murdering 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai on March 16, 1968. The verdict and sentence can be appealed through military and federal courts, and it is subject to review by the secretary of the Army.

Kinard, a decorated Army airborne officer who served two tours in Vietnam, said "every hour of that operation (My Lai) has been relived in a jury deliberation room."

"We looked for anything that would prove Lt. Calley innocent," Kinard said. "I could find no other thing to come up with than that verdict we returned."

The jury, which deliberated almost 80 hours spread over 13 days to convict Calley, returned a life sentence after almost six hours. The sentence required five votes out of the six jurors.

A unanimous vote would have been required for the death penalty.

Calley spent his third day in the Ft. Benning stockade today and seemed bound for the Leavenworth disciplinary barracks by weekend.

There was a possibility he could be granted a "deferment from confinement" asked by the defense that would give him the same freedom of movement on this post that he has enjoyed for the last 18 months, living in his bachelor apartment and doing as he pleased.

The formal request was made by defense attorney George W. Latimer, but there was serious doubt that Maj. Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, commander of Ft. Benning, would grant it, even though Calley has been a model recruit. Premeditated murder, normally is a non-bailable crime in civil courts.

The stubby former platoon leader was put in a stark two-room cell with another officer, prisoner at the stockade here late Monday on his conviction of what the government charged was "summary execution in cold blood" of crying and pleading women, children, and old men.

The end of the longest military trial in American history came at 2:53 p.m. Wednesday when a steady-eyed but pale Calley came to a weak salute before the court president who had just read the sentence of life at hard labor, dismissal, and forfeiture of his $773.10 monthly pay plus allowances.

"I'll do my best, sir," Calley said as the court president, Col. Clifford H. Ford, returned his salute.

His best at Ft. Leavenworth might include applying himself at an opportunity to resume his college career—he was a junior college dropout—or taking up a trade inside the correctional walls. "Hard labor" is an archaic legal term, according to Army law authorities, who say there is no such thing in the Army anymore as breaking rocks or the like. He could be eligible for parole in about 10 years.

Calley's rusty hair was a bit rumpled as he arrived in the red, white, and blue decor courtroom where the trial began Nov. 12. In the audience sat his girl friend, red-haired Ann Moore.

The day before, he had tearfully told the jury that he never wantonly killed a human being in his life and that the only crime he committed was "to value the lives of my troops."

When the silvery-haired Ford, 53, finished the reading of the sentence, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, the judge, said crisply: "This court is closed."

Calley walked slowly from the room with his attorneys to the defense office, where Miss Moore talked with him.

He said goodbye to his attorneys and Miss Moore, who did not weep, and was taken by police to board a car for the stockade. On the sidewalk outside, he snapped a salute to a shouting crowd of 150.

"They crucified him," screamed one woman. "War is hell. Lt. Calley killed 100 Communists single-handed. He should have got a medal. He should be made a general."

More Express Feelings

By United Press International

Three local draft boards resigned, at least three mass marches on Washington were being planned and the White House was swamped with telegrams and telephone calls as Americans expressed their feelings about the conviction of Lt. William L. Calley Jr.

Calley was convicted of the premeditated murder of 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai. He was sentenced Wednesday to life in prison.

Reaction continued to mount around the nation as Calley waited in the Ft. Benning stockade.

The White House, according to Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, has received more than 5,000 wires and 1,500 telephone calls concerning the conviction. They were running almost 100-1 in favor of clemency for Calley, he said.

In St. Petersburg, Fla., real estate man Walter J. Dilbeck said Wednesday he and 100 "coordinators" around the nation plan for a mass march on Washington July 4 on behalf of all GIs charged in the My Lai incident. "We intend to have one million people in Washington that day and we intend to stay there until these men are released," Dilbeck said.

E. Thomas Cammarota, commander of the Pennsylvania American Legion, called on President Nixon to heed those urging clemency.

"If President Nixon sees fit not to listen to the thousands of telegrams that already have been sent to him, we are prepared to march on Washington," Cammarota said.

Robert Cadie, a retired Army sergeant who says the verdict was "a lot of bull," said Wednesday he and a "Free Calley Committee" with branches in all states but Hawaii will lead 50,000 people in a march on Washington after a petition drive.

All the members of local Selective Service boards in Elizabethton, Tenn., and Athens and Blairsville, Ga., resigned. Members of the Quitman, Ga., board wired Nixon they would not induct any more men.

"This is the worst thing that's ever happened in the United States," said Robert E. Caldwell, chairman of the Blairsville board.

In St. Louis, Mo., 75-year-old Robert A. Whitaker flew the American flag upside-down and at half staff Wednesday on a flagpole draped in black. He said it was to show the conviction "is killing our flag."

Col. Henderson Next For the Army Panel

FT. MEADE, Md. (UPI)—Col. Oran K. Henderson, the highest ranked officer still accused of My Lai connected crimes, goes before an Army court-martial Friday, just two days after one of the men in his command, Lt. William L. Calley Jr., was sentenced to life in prison.

Henderson, 50, commander of the Americal Division's 11th Brigade, faces court-martial on three charges of attempting to cover up the massacre.

The first charge says he "was derelict in the performance of his duties as investigating officer (and) willfully failed to conduct proper and thorough investigation, as it was his duty to do."

The other two state that he repeated at an official Pentagon inquiry "with intent to deceive" a statement he knew was false and did "wrongfully and unlawfully make under lawful oath a false statement" which "he did not then believe to be true."

The charges will be read at the hearing Friday, the prosecution and defense counsels will enter motions and Henderson will be asked to enter a plea.

If Henderson pleads innocent, the actual trial probably will begin by the end of April in a tiny courtroom on his base located between Baltimore and Washington, D.C.

Henderson was in a helicopter 1,500 feet above My Lai 4 in Quang Ngai Province, South Vietnam, on March 16, 1968, as Calley's platoon made its sweep through the hamlet. Henderson has said he saw no killings and wasn't convinced until 2 years later there was a massacre.

WO Hugh C. Thompson, pilot of an observation helicopter below Henderson's, sounded the first word of civilian casualties on the ground. It was his challenge of an infantry officer on the ground and his subsequent report which Henderson is accused of hushing up.

Henderson, born in Indianapolis, Ind., and a much-decorated combat veteran of World War II and the Korean War, was reassigned in July, 1969, to the faculty of the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Va., a position he still retains.

Cairo Troops Fire Across Suez Canal

By United Press International

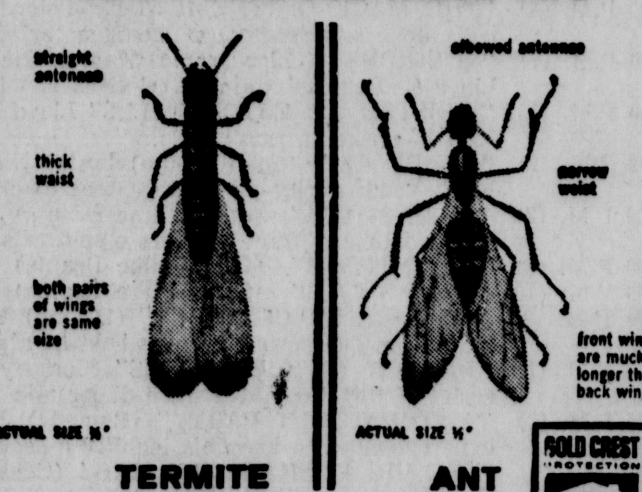

Egyptian troops opened fire across the Suez Canal, Israeli officials said Wednesday, but there were no injuries and Israeli troops did not fire back. It was the first shooting along the truce line since Aug. 12.

An Israeli spokesman said the Egyptians opened up with short bursts of machinegun fire Monday across the canal near the northern end of the waterway. There was no comment from Cairo on the incident, but only the Aug. 12 shooting has been reported since the Arab-Israeli cease-fire began Aug. 5.
